TRAIN STRIKES AUTOMOBILE, 10 PERSONS DEAD

Victims Returning From Funeral Of Relative

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 24—(AP)—A speeding passenger train killed ten members of a family on relief today, striking their stalled automobile broadside and scattering the bodies along hundreds of feet of railroad right-of-way.

Marion McBride, 43, of near Grabill, Ind.; his 41-year-old wife, and eight of the nine McBride children, all riding in a (Essex) sedan, were killed instantly or fatally injured. Two little girls were picked up from the debris and taken to a hospital, critically hurt.

A baby, still-born to Mrs. McBride was found in the wreckage.

The family had been in Fort Wayne attending the funeral of the husband of Mrs. William Conner, sister-in-law of Mrs. McBride. As they neared their home neighborhood, the automobile stalled on the railroad crossing.

A Detroit-bound Wabash passenger train plowed into the car, scattered bodies and wreckage in all directions and ground to a stop a hundred feet down the track. The locomotive was badly damaged.

The dead children were: Clara McBride, 14; Marion Jr., 12; Mary, 10; Arthur, 8; Virginia, 6; Robert, 3; Richard and Romona, 15-month-old-twins.

Clara McBride, 14, and Phyllis, 4, were brought to St. Joseph's hospital at Fort Wayne, where Clara died late tonight. Attendants said Phyllis may not live. Bodies of the others were removed to the Grabill railroad station. Albert Neunschwanger, relief administrator, said the family had been on relief for some time.

First reports, confused because of the condition of the bodies, placed Mrs. Conner among the accident victims. Later, she was located alive in Fort Wayne.

Past President Of Rotary Dies Friday

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—John Nelson, prominent Canadian journalist and past president of Rotary International, died suddenly tonight in his hotel room here, where he had been ill for a week with heart disease.

Nelson, superintendent of the public relations department of the Sun Life Assurance company at Montreal, Quebec, Canada, was about 62.

He came to Chicago to attend a trustees' meeting of the Rotary International foundation in connection with the Rotary International board meeting and was stricken on Jan. 13. He had served as international president during the 1933-34 term.

POLICE RADIO NETWORK

St. Louis, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An experimental police radio network between Minneapolis, Kansas City, Davenport, Ia., and St. Louis for the interchange of information of common interest will begin operation soon, Detective-Sergeant Everett H. Fisher announced today.

The new net will operate entirely in international Morse signals with a confidential code to guard further against interception. Previously, police of many cities have exchanged information during quiet hours of local transmission, but the broadcast by voice was as understandable to criminals as to police.

St. Louis has been assigned 2036 and 2812 kilocycle bands.

Weather

For Jacksonville and vicinity—Snow and slightly warmer weather is predicted for this territory today. Sunday will be generally fair and colder.

The U. S. Co-operative Weather Bureau at the Norbury Sanitarium last night gave temperatures as: High nine above zero, at 5 p. m. Friday six above. Lowest during Thursday night six below zero.

Barometer readings were: A. M. 30.-30; P. M. 30.26.

Illinois—Snow, slightly warmer Saturday; Sunday generally fair, colder.

Indiana — Cloudy, slightly warmer, snow in central and south Saturday; Sunday cloudy and colder.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness, slightly warmer in east, snow flurries in north Saturday; Sunday fair, colder.

Missouri—Snow, colder in west Saturday; Sunday fair, colder in east and south.

Iowa—Partly cloudy, colder in extreme west Saturday; Sunday fair, colder in extreme east.

Three Convicted In Edward Bremer Kidnaping Case

Harry Sawyer And William Weaver Given Life Sentences

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A federal district court jury late today convicted three more of the 23 persons charged with participation in the kidnaping two years ago of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker.

The verdict came two hours and 44 minutes after the jury received the case and two years and a week after Bremer was seized. Convicted were Harry Sawyer, St. Paul underworld character whom the government charged pointed out the victim for the abductors; Cassius McDonald, Detroit engineer charged with trading ransom notes for other currency in Cuba; and William Weaver, Arkansas convict accused of participation in the actual seizure.

Two of them—Sawyer and Weaver—were ordered to follow seven other alleged conspirators to prison, for life terms. Commitment to prisons to be designated by the United States attorney general, was delayed for one week. Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye, who pronounced sentence on the pair, deferred sentencing McDonald until February 1.

Robert Wadlow Of Alton, Graduates From High School

Youthful Giant Plans To Enter College: Will Study Law

Alton, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Towering over his classmates, as he hopes some day to tower over a jury, Robert Wadlow, 17 years old and 8 feet 4 inches tall, was graduated from high school tonight.

The youthful giant, normal in every respect but size, made an imposing bulk with 390 pounds at the commencement exercises. His graduating cap was size 81, his gown 51 inches around the chest, 90 inches from collar to hem and with 55-inch sleeves.

The world's tallest student, he plans to enter college this fall to prepare for a career in law.

To his classmates, with whom he mingled freely, the boy was no longer an oddity, but to physicians, who have kept him under observation for years, he was destined to become the tallest man in recorded history.

The son of normal parents—his father 5 feet 11 inches tall and his mother somewhat smaller—Robert began growing as a baby, although his weight of nine pounds at birth was not unusual.

He increased to 30 pounds at six months, 62 at 18 months and at the age of eight was 6 feet 2½ inches tall and weighed 195 pounds. He was just shy of eight feet tall two years ago.

Paradoxically, this abnormal growth was due to the overactivity of a gland the size of a pea. Called the pituitary and located at the base of the skull, the gland regulates the growth of the body, although accurate medical knowledge of its functions is scant.

"Surface Break" Saves Coal Mine

Johnston City, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—An extensive "surface break" that shook houses today saved the Franco coal mine from flood water that already inundate this city's other collieries.

An area 200 feet wide and 400 feet long sank more than three feet and formed a natural barrier against waters pounding weakened concrete seals protecting the mine.

The torrents, coming from nearby abandoned workings, burst through similar seals at the Old Ben mine two weeks ago.

Bailing operations to save this $3,000,000 mine continued despite near zero weather which threatened to turn the mine tipple into a solid sheet of ice. Workmen built huge bonfires to melt the ice and prevent the toppling of the framework.

PRANK FORGOTTEN

Chicago, Jan. 24. —(AP)— A college prank committed 55 years ago by Justice Willis Van Devanter, of the U. S. supreme court, was officially "forgotten" today by the fraternity which expelled him for it.

The offense, so old no one could remember just what it was, was adjudged "trivial" and the justice has been reinstated as a member of Sigma Chi.

The reinstatement was made last May, but news of it leaked out only today from Sigma Chi headquarters here.

PROFESSOR DIES

Claremont, Calif., Jan. 24—(AP)—Dr Robert C. Denison, 67, professor of philosophy at Pomona college, and writer on philosophy and religion, died last night of a heart attack.

Born in Godfrey, Ill., Dr. Denison, from 1893 to 1897, was pastor of the Congregational church in Little Rock, Ark. He served with the American Red Cross in Serbia and Albania in 1918 and 1919.

BEULAH PRICE HAS RESIGNED WELFARE POST

Horner Appointees Are Leaving His Camp

By Curtis R. Hay
Associated Press Staff Writer

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Beulah G. Price of Astoria, Democratic state chairwoman, resigned her public welfare department post today, as Governor Horner's patronage chiefs, striking almost hourly, were making good their threats to slash Kelly-Nash supporters from the state payroll.

Coming amid the wave of discharges, Mrs. Price's resignation was claimed by the Chicago organization's backers as a decisive step.

The toll of victims of the administration's ire for deserting the governor's ranks to support the slate picked by the Chicago Democratic organization rolled up so rapidly accurate checks of the lists were virtually impossible.

Some, like Mrs. Price, resigned voluntarily, but the bulk was discharged under the blanket reason of inefficiency. The term covered a host of actual causes. In the case of more important personages the administration requested resignations and offered no reason.

Endorsement for their jobs by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, national committeeman Patrick A. Nash, or candidates on the Chicago slate cost some their state positions. Failure to pledge support to Governor Horner's candidacy was another actual cause for discharges.

Two more rich political plums were withdrawn with the announcement by the patronage rulers that Timothy J. Kelly of Chicago, chief state grain inspector, and Frank J. Kasper of Berwyn, head of the Chicago office of the liquor revenue division, had left the payroll. Kelly's job paid $4,300 annually and Kasper's $4,200.

Another country chairman, Harold M. Achim of Batavia, head of the Kane Democratic committee, was dismissed for inefficiency. He was a state highway engineer.

Defendant In Scottsboro Case Attacks Officer

Deputy Receives Deep Gash In His Throat; Negro Is Wounded

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Ozie Powell, one of the nine negro defendants in the Scottsboro attack case, was wounded today after he allegedly attacked an officer with a knife near Cullman, Ala.

The incident occurred as the nine negro defendants were being transferred here from Decatur, Ala., where Heywood Patterson, one of them, was convicted yesterday and sentenced to 75 years imprisonment.

The officer, Deputy Sheriff Edgar Blalock, was taken to a Cullman hospital with a deep gash in his throat. His condition was not considered critical.

At the county hospital here where Powell was brought, attending physicians said the negro was not shot as first reported but had been "knocked on the head." They said his condition was not necessarily dangerous.

Governor Bibb Graves, in a telephone conversation with Sheriff Fred McDuff of Jefferson county (Birmingham), instructed the sheriff to see that the negro "is protected at all costs."

The governor advised the sheriff he was sending reinforcements of state highway patrolmen here to augment the county forces.

Patterson was not in the automobile in which the attack occurred. First reports said that Patterson was the negro involved.

Arriving here, Sheriff J. Street Sandlin of Morgan county said that Roy Wright, another of the defendants sitting beside powell on the trip from Decatur, tried to attack him simultaneously with the attack by Powell on Blalock.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Disposal of garbage by way of the kitchen drain was declared feasible and profitable today by the Sanitary Engineering Department of the University of Illinois.

All the average kitchen needs to make such a plan practicable is a garbage grinder on the drainpipe, and electric grinders were recently invented, Prof. Harold E. Babbitt reported.

Experiments at the university have demonstrated that garbage and sewage can be disposed of together at municipal sewage disposal plants, the professor said.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

New York, Jan. 24 —(AP)— Austin Phelps Palmer, Park Avenue retired engineer who wrote threatening letters to President Roosevelt, was sent to Bellevue hospital for observation today on motion of J. Howard Carter, chief assistant United States attorney.

Sentence under his plea of guilty was deferred to Jan. 30.

Coroner's Jury Finds Man Killed Family And Self

Poured Oil On Bodies As Deputy Approaches, Then Commits Suicide

Paris, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—A coroner's jury decided today that the seven members of the Albers family, whose bodies were found yesterday in a snowbound farmhouse six miles south of Sidell, Ill., died from gunshot wounds or skull fractures inflicted by William Albers, 54, the husband and father.

Albers, the jury verdict said, "took his own life, with suicidal intent," using the target rifle which slew his wife Mrs. Albers, 45; Shirley, 2; Eugene, 4, and Forrest, 10. The two older boys, John, 17, and Wilfred, 14, had suffered fractured skulls, apparently from a baseball bat wielded by the father.

The date of death in the cases of the children and Mrs. Albers was fixed at "early in January." Yesterday, when a posse approached the house to learn where the family was, Albers shot himself.

Sheriff Roy Hess testified that as he approached the lonely farm home yesterday Albers ran into the house and poured kerosene over the bodies, touching it off in an effort to hide the crime.

Ironically enough, the house caught fire and burned to the ground this morning, shortly before the inquest opened.

Other testimony at the inquest was given by Ray Fitzsimmons, Sidell restaurant owner, who told of conversations with Albers in which the dead man had told of "family troubles" arising out of a contest over the estate of Mrs. Albers' father, Clarence Wienke, Broadlands, Ill., who died last year.

Mrs. Mary Wienke, Mrs. Albers' mother, said after the inquest that funeral services would be held in Broadlands.

Coalition Of Long Talmadge Forces Is Announced

Will Fight Renomination Of Franklin D. Roosevelt

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 24—(AP)—A coalition of the forces of the late Huey P. Long with those of Governor Eugene Talmadge to fight renomination of President Roosevelt was announced today by the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer of Share Our Wealth clubs.

"We are going to have a unified front in the presence of an emergency that threatens the south," Smith said.

He emphasized, however, that there has been no actual "amalgamation of Talmadge and Huey Long forces."

The preacher, an ardent follower of the late Louisiana senator, made his announcement in the presence of Governor Talmadge, a persistent and out spoken critic of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Smith, who some time after Long was slain announced he might be a candidate for president, said he would be on the program of the "grass roots" convention of anti-Roosevelt leaders at Macon, Ga., January 29.

The Macon assembly, styled a gathering of "Jeffersonian" Democrats, is sponsored by Talmadge, who also has announced he is a conditional candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and John H. Kirby, Texas lumberman, who heads the southern committee to uphold the constitution.

Smith said his subject at the Macon meeting would be "an interpretation of the anti-Roosevelt victory in the Louisiana primary," in which the faction of the late Senator Long triumphed over the anti-Long forces.

Seven Thousand Miners At Work

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Seven thousand miners were reported working full time today as a result of the zero weather's stimulation of the coal business.

At Springfield, the Peabody company said it had put on no new men but that it had been running at capacity for several weeks. The main effect of the cold wave there was described as brisker movement of fuel from the dealers' yards.

W. J. Jenkins, president of the Illinois Coal Operators Association, said the frigid weather had slowed down activity in some mines as the diggers living at a distance chose not to come to work.

Retailers in southern Illinois also reported brisk business though the cold wave was not so rigorous there as in northern and central areas.

DISASTROUS BLAZE

Seymour, Ind., Jan. 24—(AP)—A fire which for a time threatened an entire downtown business block including the telephone exchange today was brought under control after it had gutted two two-story buildings doing damage estimated at $28,000 to $30,000. The furnace serving the telephone exchange was put out of commission but the girls continued at their posts in 12 degree above zero temperatures.

NEW COLD WAVE SWEEPING OUT OF NORTHWEST

Frigid Weather Will Return To Midwest Sunday

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Fresh snows swept out of the northwest tonight in the van of a new cold wave.

The double assault presaged a swift end to the brief respite from some of the most frigid weather of the century.

Although temperatures eased slowly upward during the day from South Dakota to New York, subzero and subreezing conditions formed the rule in the northern states. A recapitulation showed 129 persons had died in 16 states from causes traceable directly or indirectly to three days of abnormal frigidity.

Snow was forecast all the way to the Atlantic seaboard. Meteorologists said it would be followed by "unusual cold" in the north central states no later than Sunday.

The mercury climbed slowly from rarely reached depts. It reached -49 at Park Rapids, Minn., -38 at Grand Forks, N. D., -36 at Galena and Mundelin, Ill., -32 at Decorah, Ia., -15 at Washington Court House, Ohio, -26 at Watertown, S. D., -31 at Rhinelander, Wis., -17 at Marion, Ind., -12 at Escanaba, Mich., -10 at Pittsburg and -2 at Kansas City.

Chicago's temperature rose above the zero mark for the first time in 54 hours when it reached one above at 1 p. m. It raised another notch later then—as in most other states—went into a decline.

New York City, with a death total of five, had a noon reading of ten above.

Portions of six major Pennsylvania highways were still blocked. Rescuers cut through mountainous drifts to reach 16 pupils who had been imprisoned in a farm house near Jennerstown for two days.

Fires brought death to 18 persons in Maryland, New York, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and New Foundland.

Prisoner Refuses Food For 62 Days

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Jan. 24—(AP)—Officials of the jail at Pozharevats claimed today that prisoner Svetozar Lukich set a hunger strike record by refusing foor for 62 days.

He drinks water, but Dr. Dragutin Yankovich, the prison physician, insisted the prisoner hasn't eaten since Nov. 23. He was reported near death tonight.

Lukich is protesting a life term imposed for murder.

Although Lukich may have set a record for Yugoslavia, it is not a world one.

Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, in a famous hunger strike died after going without food for 74 days in the Cork jail in 1920. He was protesting a two-year sentence for sedition and his death caused bitter anti-English sentiment in Ireland.

Gets Knowledge From Investment

Chicago, Jan. 24—(AP)—William Hensel of Auburn, Ia., today told the federal court jury trying 20 persons on charges of using the mails to defraud in promoting the story of Sir Francis Drake's supposed riches that he got full value returned in knowledge for his $3,000 investment in the scheme.

He said it was an education into the mysteries of "the big money trusts that have wronged the entire world."

One defendant on the witness stand today was E. A. Peterson of Rockford, Ill. He testified he stopped contributing to the Drake fund only when financial reverses forced him out of business in 1932. He said his contributions totaled $300 and those of his family $1,000.

Peterson said he was a sort of unofficial chairman of the Drake estate activities in the Rockford area, renting halls and holding meetings, for which he said he collected $186 in expenses in two years.

PUNISHMENT FITS CRIME

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 24.—(AP)—A punishment to fit their crime befell three automobile strippers today.

They were captured by city detectives in the fact of dismantling a stolen car—and compelled to push the machine 10 miles into San Antonio on foot when it ran out of gasoline.

CAPTURE LEADER

Addis Ababa, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Reports current here today said Emperor Haile Selassie's troops have captured Ras Gasasa, leader of rebellious elements in Gojjam province. The capture was said to have been made in the Lake Tana region.

NAME POSTMASTERS

Washington, Jan. 24—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley announced today appointment of the following acting postmasters in Illinois:

Walter D. Hayes, Minonk; Lloyd M. Wakefield, Heyworth, and Mary M. Spurgeon, Prairie City.

New Stop-Gap Farm Bill Will be Presented to Senate Committee Today

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Jan. 24 —(AP)— A new stop-gap farm bill, described as retaining the principle of individual subsidies for soil conservation as a stepping stone to a permanent federal-state co-operative plan, emerged today from another round of fast-moving congressional developments.

While President Roosevelt was telling his press conference his ultimate goal was to make agriculture "as productive as it was 100 years ago," the all-Democratic senate agriculture subcommittee, which yesterday rebelled against the original Jones-Bankhead bill, unanimously agreed on a re-draft prepared overnight at the agriculture department.

Its details were withheld by Chairman Smith (D., S.C.) until after its presentation tomorrow to the full committee.

Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.), whose original draft Smith opposed vigorously on constitutional grounds, told newsmen:

"Is it satisfactory to me? Draw your own conclusions."

Smith said:

"In my opinion the present (revised) form is along the line that I think may be sustained constitutionally. There are some things that hew close to the line. But most of the things would be favorable."

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, after going over the redraft with Smith, said:

"The modifications suggested in the main, in my personal judgment, would be helpful."

The house committee also will consider the new draft tomorrow.

While Bankhead insisted that the changes were minor, other than the major addition providing that after two years grants would be made only to states co-operating in a permanent farm plan yet to be worked out, Smith commented:

"Wait till you see the revision."

Secretary Wallace, who appeared before both senate and house groups, merely said:

"Everybody's happy."

TAKES "RAP" SO HIS BROTHER CAN GO FREE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24 —(AP)— So that his younger brother, Jack, 26, might go free, James Cummings, 45, virtually asked today for his two year prison sentence.

The brothers and Forest Darling of Kansas City, were put on trial on larceny charges, but they suddenly changed their pleas from innocent to guilty—the older brother taking the blame.

The charge against Jack was stricken because of "disputed evidence" and Judge J. Earl Major sentenced James and Darling to two years each. The brothers had been arrested the day after their release from Leavenworth penitentiary.

Bundesen And His State Ticket To Tour Downstate

Preliminary Trip Will Start On February Third

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Cook county (Chicago) Democratic organization laid plans tonight to send its slate of state candidates, headed by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, its choice for governor, on a preliminary tour of Illinois starting Feb. 3.

An itinerary for the trip, Dr. Bundesen said, was being prepared by the downstate Democratic committee at Springfield. Candidates were expected to visit both rural and urban districts in a 10 day tour.

At its meeting today, the Chicago organization approved its county, judicial and sanitary district slates and reaffirmed its support of Dr. Bundesen, president of the board of health, as a candidate against Governor Henry Horner at the April primary.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who won a rather belated endorsement from the central committee, spoke sharply to its members today.

"I have tried," he said in part. "To carry out policies which the people would approve. How well I have succeeded has been demonstrated within the last 10 days by the press and civic organizations when there was talk of dropping me.

"Every man should conduct himself in a manner which will reflect credit on the party. It is difficult to win without party endorsement, but endorsement is not sufficient for election. One must have the approval of the supreme court—the citizenry.

"There is no time for politics in the prosecution of crime," Courtney continued. "A prosecutor cannot persecute his political opponents, and the office cannot be used to promote political issues."

Somewhat less heatedly, the state's attorney concluded by pledging his support to "the man on the ticket."

ZERO TEMPERATURES DAMAGE SOFT WHEAT

Murphysboro, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Subzero temperatures of the past two days seriously damaged soft wheat in the Southern Illinois belt, unofficial reports received at the Farm Bureau office revealed today.

J. G. McCall, Jackson county farm adviser said the wheat already damaged by Hessian Fly was easy pray for the high winds and low temperatures and estimated the damage would range 15 to 25 percent.

Concern was expressed in the Centralia and Salem peach growing areas that the cold weather had caused some damage to peach buds. South of Centralia, however, the damage to peach buds was reported light.

PHYSICIAN DIES

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Roland V. Curner, 38, a practicing physician in Aurora for eight years, died in a Milwaukee hospital today. He had been in ill-health for several weeks. Dr. Curner is survived by his widow, Carol, and two daughters.

John Stelle Says Relief Costs In State Too High

Claims Something Should Be Done About It Quickly

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—State Treasurer John Stelle launched a vigorous assault upon relief administrative costs and supplemental aid to works progress administration workers at a meeting of the Illinois emergency relief commission today.

Stelle, who was favored by Democratic slate-makers as a candidate for lieutenant governor, said that relief cases have dropped 40 per cent since December 1934 while the cost of administering them has only dropped 25 per cent.

"We're getting censored, and rightfully so, about our administrative staffs," Stelle said. "We ought to do something quickly."

After Stelle left the meeting, the remaining four members adopted a resolution urging Governor Horner and the general assembly to provide additional funds for the continuation of relief until May 1. The resolution pointed out that funds expected to be made available to the IERC would provide relief for a period not later than February 15.

Stelle stated that relief districts should dovetail with the seven works progrerss administration districts in the matter of boundaries and headquarters location.

"The two organizations should keep in closer contact," he said. "It would reduce administrative costs."

Executive Secretary Leo M. Lyons of the IERC agreed that if this were done, some of the 13 district representatives could be eliminated.

"Veto" History Of Bonus Legislation

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Here is a "veto" history of bonus legislation:

1922—Warren G. Harding:

"Though undying gratitude is in the meed x x x it is not to be said that a material bestowal is an obligation."

1924—Calvin Coolidge:

"There is no moral justification for it."

1931—Herbert Hoover:

"The bonus act (for payment in 1934) was passed x x x upon the explicit understanding x x x that the matter was closed."

1935—Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"The (nation's) credit is safe but it can not ultimately be safe if we engage in a policy of yielding to each and all x x x groups."

1936—Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"I respectfully refer the members of the senate and of the house x x x to every word of what I said then (in 1935)."

Fireman Killed In Coal Hopper

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A brief failure in the heating system of the children's Memorial Hospital led to the discovery today of the body of Ray Dixler, 27, a fireman,, crushed under several tons of coal in the automatic hopper.

The position of the body indicated Dixler had attempted to break up frozen masses of fuel and fell into the hopper. His body was pushed toward the furnace until caught by prongs.

With the body cutting off the fuel supply from the fire, the temperature in the hospital dropped a few degrees and other employes went to the basement to investigate. They cut through a side of the hopper with a blow torch and found Dixler's body.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Washington, Jan. 24 —(AP)— Representative Kent E. Keller, Ava, Ill. Democrat, announced today his candidacy for another term.

GOVERNOR TO DETERMINE IF BRUNO FRAMED

Hoffman Expresses Doubts About Lindy Kidnap Case

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman sought today to determine whether any "framed" evidence or any "prejudice and bias" contributed to the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

In a letter to J. Lyle Kinmonth, publisher of the Asbury Park Press, the governor elaborated on his "doubts" about the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case and said:

"I want to know whether a public demand that law enforcement agencies 'make good' might in any way have caused evidence to be framed."

A list of questions submitted to the governor tonight included one whether he had any information that state evidence was planted. He declined to answer it. He also declined to answer when asked if he was satisfied with the state police conduct of the case, and whether he intended to replace Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police superintendent, whose term expires in May.

Defense attorneys repeatedly have attacked the state's contention one part of the kidnap ladder came from the attic of Hauptmann's Bronx home. In federal courts last week when it unsuccessfully sought writs of habeas corpus the defense charged the state "failed to disclose" at the trial evidence that the kidnap ladder "was materially altered and changed."

The governor told Kinmonth he hoped defense counsel and others "interested in a full solution x x x will be able to secure evidence of sufficient value for consideration in an unprejudiced and unbiased manner."

Republicans Meet; Name No Candidate

Chicagoans May Select Slate To Oppose Boom Of W. Brooks

Chicago, Jan. 24. —(AP)— Twenty-eight members of the Cook county (Chicago) Republican central committee who did not join the boom for Wayland Brooks for governor marshaled their forces at a meeting today, but did not endorse a rival candidate.

Brooks was endorsed for the Republican nomination by the same number of committeemen last night, after all 61 members of the committee voted to abrogate the rule prohibiting them from endorsing any one who could not gain the support of 80 per cent of the committee.

All 28 who met today were opponents of the Weber-Moore-Harding faction, which engineered last night's "coupe d'etat." Speakers expressed a determination to select a separate slate, but there were no names advanced for the gubernatorial position.

H. Wallace Caldwell, former president of the school board, and John G. Oglesby of Elkhart, former lieutenant governor, were being mentioned among the committeemen as possible candidates for consideration.

Planes Collided Fliers Killed

Honolulu, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Two army bombing planes collided over Luke Army Aviation field shortly after 7 o'clock tonight and fell to the ground in flames. Several members of the crews were believed killed.

Army hospital authorities said they understood two fliers were killed and four injured, although this could not be definitely learned immediately.

The planes, returning from regular night maneuvers, were ready to land at the air base when they hit.

The collision occurred approximately 1,000 feet in the air and both ships fell in flames near the airbase building.

Army authorities began an immediate investigation.

CITY EDITOR DIES

Victims Returning From Funeral Of Relative

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 24—(AP)—A speeding passenger train killed ten members of a family on relief today, striking their stalled automobile broadside and scattering the bodies along hundreds of feet of railroad right-of-way.

Marion McBride, 43, of near Grabill, Ind.; his 41-year-old wife, and eight of the nine McBride children, all riding in a (Essex) sedan, were killed instantly or fatally injured. Two little girls were picked up from the debris and taken to a hospital, critically hurt.

A baby, still-born to Mrs. McBride was found in the wreckage.

The family had been in Fort Wayne attending the funeral of the husband of Mrs. William Conner, sister-in-law of Mrs. McBride. As they neared their home neighborhood, the automobile stalled on the railroad crossing.

A Detroit-bound Wabash passenger train plowed into the car, scattered bodies and wreckage in all directions and ground to a stop a hundred feet down the track. The locomotive was badly damaged.

The dead children were: Clara McBride, 14; Marion Jr., 12; Mary, 10; Arthur, 8; Virginia, 6; Robert, 3; Richard and Romona, 15-month-old-twins.

Clara McBride, 14, and Phyllis, 4, were brought to St. Joseph's hospital at Fort Wayne, where Clara died late tonight. Attendants said Phyllis may not live. Bodies of the others were removed to the Grabill railroad station. Albert Neunschwanger, relief administrator, said the family had been on relief for some time.

First reports, confused because of the condition of the bodies, placed Mrs. Conner among the accident victims. Later, she was located alive in Fort Wayne.

Past President Of Rotary Dies Friday

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—John Nelson, prominent Canadian journalist and past president of Rotary International, died suddenly tonight in his hotel room here, where he had been ill for a week with heart disease.

Nelson, superintendent of the public relations department of the Sun Life Assurance company at Montreal, Quebec, Canada, was about 62.

He came to Chicago to attend a trustees' meeting of the Rotary International foundation in connection with the Rotary International board meeting and was stricken on Jan. 13. He had served as international president during the 1933-34 term.

POLICE RADIO NETWORK

St. Louis, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An experimental police radio network between Minneapolis, Kansas City, Davenport, Ia., and St. Louis for the interchange of information of common interest will begin operation soon, Detective-Sergeant Everett H. Fisher announced today.

The new net will operate entirely in international Morse signals with a confidential code to guard further against interception. Previously, police of many cities have exchanged information during quiet hours of local transmission, but the broadcast by voice was as understandable to criminals as to police.

St. Louis has been assigned 2036 and 2812 kilocycle bands.

Weather

For Jacksonville and vicinity—Snow and slightly warmer weather is predicted for this territory today. Sunday will be generally fair and colder.

The U. S. Co-operative Weather Bureau at the Norbury Sanitarium last night gave temperatures as: High nine above zero, at 5 p. m. Friday six above. Lowest during Thursday night six below zero.

Barometer readings were: A. M. 30.-30; P. M. 30.26.

Illinois—Snow, slightly warmer Saturday; Sunday generally fair, colder.

Three Convicted In Edward Bremer Kidnaping Case

Harry Sawyer And William Weaver Given Life Sentences

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A federal district court jury late today convicted three more of the 23 persons charged with participation in the kidnaping two years ago of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker.

The verdict came two hours and 44 minutes after the jury received the case and two years and a week after Bremer was seized. Convicted were Harry Sawyer, St. Paul underworld character whom the government charged pointed out the victim for the abductors; Cassius McDonald, Detroit engineer charged with trading ransom notes for other currency in Cuba; and William Weaver, Arkansas convict accused of participation in the actual seizure.

Two of them—Sawyer and Weaver—were ordered to follow seven other alleged conspirators to prison, for life terms. Commitment, to prisons to be designated by the United States attorney general, was delayed for one week. Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye, who pronounced sentence on the pair, deferred sentencing McDonald until February 1.

Robert Wadlow Of Alton, Graduates From High School

Youthful Giant Plans To Enter College; Will Study Law

Alton, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Towering over his classmates, as he hopes some day to tower over a jury, Robert Wadlow, 17 years old and 8 feet 4 inches tall, was graduated from high school tonight.

The youthful giant, normal in every respect but size, made an imposing bulk with 390 pounds at the commencement exercises. His graduating cap was size 84, his gown 51 inches around the chest, 90 inches from collar to hem and with 55-inch sleeves.

The world's tallest student, he plans to enter college this fall to prepare for a career in law.

To his classmates, with whom he mingled freely, the boy was no longer an oddity, but to physicians, who have kept him under observation for years, he was destined to become the tallest man in recorded history.

The son of normal parents—his father 5 feet 11 inches tall and his mother somewhat smaller—Robert began growing as a baby, although his weight of nine pounds at birth was not unusual.

He increased to 30 pounds at six months, 62 at 18 months and at the age of eight was 6 feet 2½ inches tall and weighed 195 pounds. He was just shy of eight feet tall two years ago.

Paradoxically, this abnormal growth was due to the overactivity of a gland the size of a pea. Called the pituitary and located at the base of the skull, the gland regulates the growth of the body, although accurate medical knowledge of its functions is scant.

"Surface Break" Saves Coal Mine

Johnston City, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—An extensive "surface break" that shook houses today saved the Franco coal mine from flood water that already inundate this city's other colliery.

An area 200 feet wide and 400 feet long sank more than three feet and formed a natural barrier against waters pounding weakened concrete seals protecting the mine.

The torrents, coming from nearby abandoned workings, burst through similar seals at the Old Ben mine two weeks ago.

Bailing operations to save this $3,000,000 mine continued despite near zero weather which threatened to turn the mine tipple into a solid sheet of ice. Workmen built huge bonfires to melt the ice and prevent the toppling of the framework.

PRANK FORGOTTEN

Chicago, Jan. 24. —(AP)— A college prank committed 55 years ago by Justice Willis Van Devanter, of the U. S. supreme court, was officially "forgotten" today by the fraternity which expelled him for it.

The offense, so old no one could remember just what it was, was adjudged "trivial" and the justice has been reinstated as a member of Sigma Chi.

The reinstatement was made last May, but news of it leaked out only today from Sigma Chi headquarters here.

PROFESSOR DIES

Claremont, Calif., Jan. 24—(AP)—Dr Robert C. Denison, 67, professor of philosophy at Pomona college, and writer on philosophy and religion, died last night of a heart attack.

Born in Godfrey, Ill., Dr. Denison, from 1893 to 1897, was pastor of the Congregational church in Little Rock, Ark. He served with the American Red Cross in Serbia and Albania in 1918 and 1919.

BEULAH PRICE HAS RESIGNED WELFARE POST

Horner Appointees Are Leaving His Camp

By Curtis R. Hay
Associated Press Staff Writer

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Beulah G. Price of Astoria, Democratic state chairwoman, resigned her public welfare department post today, as Governor Horner's patronage chiefs, striking almost hourly, were making good their threats to slash Kelly-Nash supporters from the state payroll.

Coming amid the wave of discharges, Mrs. Price's resignation was claimed by the Chicago organization's backers as a decisive step.

The toll of victims of the administration's ire for deserting the governor's ranks to support the slate picked by the Chicago Democratic organization rolled up so rapidly accurate checks of the lists were virtually impossible.

Some, like Mrs. Price, resigned voluntarily, but the bulk was discharged under the blanket reason of inefficiency. The term covered a host of actual causes. In the case of more important personages the administration requested resignations and offered no reason.

Endorsement for their jobs by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, national committeeman Patrick A. Nash, or candidates on the Chicago slate cost some their state positions. Failure to pledge support to Governor Horner's candidacy was another actual cause for discharges.

Two more rich political plums were withdrawn with the announcement by the patronage rulers that Timothy J. Kelly of Chicago, chief state grain inspector, and Frank J. Kasper of Berwyn, head of the Chicago office of the liquor revenue division, had left the payroll. Kelly's job paid $4,300 annually and Kasper's $4,200.

Another country chairman, Harold M. Achim of Batavia, head of the Kane Democratic committee, was dismissed for inefficiency. He was a state highway engineer.

Defendant In Scottsboro Case Attacks Officer

Deputy Receives Deep Gash In His Throat; Negro Is Wounded

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Ozie Powell, one of the nine negro defendants in the Scottsboro attack case, was wounded today after he allegedly attacked an officer with a knife near Cullman, Ala.

The incident occurred as the nine negro defendants were being transferred here from Decatur, Ala., where Heywood Patterson, one of them, was convicted yesterday and sentenced to 75 years imprisonment.

The officer, Deputy Sheriff Edgar Blalock, was taken to a Cullman hospital with a deep gash in his throat. His condition was not considered critical.

At the county hospital here where Powell was brought, attending physicians said the negro was not shot as first reported but had been "knocked on the head." They said his condition was not necessarily dangerous.

Governor Bibb Graces, in a telephone conversation with Sheriff Fred McDuff of Jefferson county (Birmingham), instructed the sheriff to see that the negro "is protected at all costs."

The governor advised the sheriff he was sending reinforcements of state highway patrolmen here to augment the county forces.

Patterson was not in the automobile in which the attack occurred. First reports said that Patterson was the negro involved.

Arriving here, Sheriff J. Street Sandlin of Morgan county said that Roy Wright, another of the defendants sitting beside powell on the trip from Decatur, tried to attack him simultaneously with the attack by Powell on Blalock.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Disposal of garbage by way of the kitchen drain was declared feasible and profitable today by the Sanitary Engineering Department of the University of Illinois.

All the average kitchen needs to make such a plan practicable is a garbage grinder on the drainpipe, and electric grinders were recently invented, Prof. Harold E. Babbitt reported.

Experiments at the university have demonstrated that garbage and sewage can be disposed of together at municipal sewage disposal plants, the professor said.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

New York, Jan. 24 —(AP)— Austin Phelps Palmer, Park Avenue retired engineer who wrote threatening letters to President Roosevelt, was sent to Bellevue hospital for observation today on motion of J. Howard Carter, chief assistant United States attorney.

Sentence under his plea of guilty was deferred to Jan. 30.

Coroner's Jury Finds Man Killed Family And Self

Poured Oil On Bodies As Deputy Approaches, Then Commits Suicide

Paris, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—A coroner's jury decided today that the seven members of the Albers family, whose bodies were found yesterday in a snowbound farmhouse six miles south of Sidell, Ill., died from gunshot wounds or skull fractures inflicted by William Albers, 54, the husband and father.

Albers, the jury verdict said, "took his own life, with suicidal intent," using the target rifle which slew his wife Mrs. Albers, 45; Shirrley, 2; Eugene, 4, and Forrest, 10. The two older boys, John, 17, and Wilfred, 14, had suffered fractured skulls, apparently from a baseball bat wielded by the father.

The date of death in the cases of the children and Mrs. Albers was fixed at "early in January." Yesterday, when a posse approached the house to learn where the family was, Albers shot himself.

Sheriff Roy Hess testified that as he approached the lonely farm home yesterday Albers ran into the house and poured kerosene over the bodies, touching it off in an effort to hide the crime.

Ironically enough, the house caught fire and burned to the ground this morning, shortly before the inquest opened.

Other testimony at the inquest was given by Ray Fitzsimmons, Sidell restaurant owner, who told of conversations with Albers in which the dead man had told of "family troubles" arising out of a contest over the estate of Mrs. Albers' father, Clarence Wienke, Broadlands, Ill., who died last year.

Mrs. Mary Wienke, Mrs. Albers' mother, said after the inquest that funeral services would be held in Broadlands.

Coalition Of Long Talmadge Forces Is Announced

Will Fight Renomination Of Franklin D. Roosevelt

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 24—(AP)—A coalition of the forces of the late Huey P. Long with those of Governor Eugene Talmadge to fight renomination of President Roosevelt was announced today by the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer of Share Our Wealth clubs.

"We are going to have a unified front in the presence of an emergency that threatens the south," Smith said.

He emphasized, however, that there has been no actual "amalgamation of Talmadge and Huey Long forces."

The preacher, an ardent follower of the late Louisiana senator, made his announcement in the presence of Governor Talmadge, a persistent and out spoken critic of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Smith, who some time after Long was slain announced he might be a candidate for president, said he would be on the program of the "grass roots" convention of anti-Roosevelt leaders at Macon, Ga., January 29.

The Macon assembly, styled a gathering of "Jeffersonian" Democrats, is sponsored by Talmadge, who also has announced he is a conditional candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and John H. Kirby, Texas lumberman, who heads the southern committee to uphold the constitution.

Smith said his subject at the Macon meeting would be "an interpretation of the anti-Roosevelt victory in the Louisiana primary," in which the faction of the late Senator Long triumphed over the anti-Long forces.

Seven Thousand Miners At Work

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Seven thousand miners were reported working full time today as a result of the zero weather's stimulation of the coal business.

At Springfield, the Peabody company said it had put on no new men but that it had been running at capacity for several weeks. The main effect of the cold wave there was described as brisker movement of fuel from the dealers' yards.

W. J. Jenkins, president of the Illinois Coal Operators Association, said the frigid weather had slowed down activity in some mines as the diggers living at a distance chose not to come to work.

Retailers in southern Illinois also reported brisk business though the cold wave was not so rigorous there as in northern and central areas.

DISASTROUS BLAZE

Seymour, Ind., Jan. 24—(AP)—A fire which for a time threatened an entire downtown business block including the telephone exchange today was brought under control after it had gutted two two-story buildings doing damage estimated at $25,000 to $30,000. The furnace serving the telephone exchange was put out of commission but the girls continued at their posts in 12 degree above zero temperatures.

NEW COLD WAVE SWEEPING OUT OF NORTHWEST

Frigid Weather Will Return To Midwest Sunday

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Fresh snows swept out of the northwest tonight in the van of a new cold wave.

The double assault presaged a swift end to the brief respite from some of the most frigid weather of the century.

Although temperatures eased slowly upward during the day from South Dakota to New York, subzero and subreezing conditions formed the rule in the northern states. A recapitulation showed 129 persons had died in 16 states from causes traceable directly or indirectly to three days of abnormal frigidity.

Snow was forecast all the way to the Atlantic seaboard. Meteorologists said it would be followed by "unusual cold" in the north central states no later than Sunday.

The mercury climbed slowly from rarely reached depts. It reached -40 at Park Rapids, Minn., -38 at Grand Forks, N. D., -36 at Galena and Mundelin, Ill., -32 at Decorah, Ia., -15 at Washington Court House, Ohio, -26 at Watertown, S. D., -31 at Rhinelander, Wis., -17 at Marion, Ind., -12 at Escanaba, Mich., -10 at Pittsburg and -2 at Kansas City.

Chicago's temperature rose above the zero mark for the first time in 54 hours when it reached one above at 1 p. m. It raised another notch later then—as in most other states—went into a decline.

New York City, with a death total of five, had a noon reading of ten above.

Portions of six major Pennsylvania highways were still blocked. Rescuers cut through mountainous drifts to reach 16 pupils who had been imprisoned in a farm house near Jennerstown for two days.

Fires brought death to 18 persons in Maryland, New York, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and New Foundland.

Prisoner Refuses Food For 62 Days

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Jan. 24—(AP)—Officials of the jail at Pozharevats claimed today that prisoner Svetozar Lukich set a hunger strike record by refusing foor for 62 days.

He drinks water, but Dr. Dragutin Yankovich, the prison physician, insisted the prisoner hasn't eaten since Nov. 23. He was reported near death tonight.

Lukich is protesting a life term imposed for murder.

Although Lukich may have set a record for Yugoslavia, it is not a world one.

Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, in a famous hunger strike died after going without food for 74 days in the Cork jail in 1920. He was protesting a two-year sentence for sedition and his death caused bitter anti-English sentiment in Ireland.

Gets Knowledge From Investment

Chicago, Jan. 24—(AP)—William Hensel of Auburn, Ia., today told the federal court jury trying 20 persons on charges of using the mails to defraud in promoting the story of Sir Francis Drake's supposed riches that he got full value returned in knowledge for his $3,000 investment in the scheme.

He said it was an education into the mysteries of "the big money trusts that have wronged the entire world."

One defendant on the witness stand today was E. A. Peterson of Rockford, Ill. He testified he stopped contributing to the Drake fund only when financial reverses forced him out of business in 1932. He said his contributions totaled $300 and those of his family $1,000.

Peterson said he was a sort of unofficial chairman of the Drake estate activities in the Rockford area, renting halls and holding meetings, for which he said he collected $186 in expenses in two years.

PUNISHMENT FITS CRIME

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 24.—(AP)—A punishment to fit their crime befell three automobile strippers today.

They were captured by city detectives in the fact of dismantling a stolen car—and compelled to push the machine 10 miles into San Antonio on foot when it ran out of gasoline.

CAPTURE LEADER

Addis Ababa, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Reports current here today said Emperor Haile Selassie's troops have captured Ras Gasasa, leader of rebellious elements in Gojjam province. The capture was said to have been made in the Lake Tana region.

NAME POSTMASTERS

Washington, Jan. 24—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley announced today appointment of the following acting postmasters in Illinois:

Walter D. Hayes, Minonk; Lloyd M. Wakefield, Heyworth, and Mary M. Spurgeon, Prairie City.

New Stop-Gap Farm Bill Will be Presented to Senate Committee Today

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Jan. 24 —(AP)— A new stop-gap farm bill, described as retaining the principle of individual subsidies for soil conservation as a stepping stone to a permanent federal-state co-operative plan, emerged today from another round of fast-moving congressional developments.

While President Roosevelt was telling his press conference his ultimate goal was to make agriculture "as productive as it was 100 years ago," the all-Democratic senate agriculture subcommittee, which yesterday rebelled against the original Jones-Bankhead bill, unanimously agreed on a re-draft prepared overnight at the agriculture department.

Its details were withheld by Chairman Smith (D., S.C.) until after its presentation tomorrow to the full committee.

Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.), whose original draft Smith opposed vigorously on constitutional grounds, told newsmen:

"Is it satisfactory to me? Draw your own conclusions."

Smith said:

"In my opinion the present (revised) form is along the line that I think may be sustained constitutionally. There are some things that hew close to the line. But most of the things would be favorable."

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, after going over the redraft with Smith, said:

"The modifications suggested in the main, in my personal judgment, would be helpful."

The house committee also will consider the new draft tomorrow.

While Bankhead insisted that the changes were minor, other than the major addition providing that after two years grants would be made only to states co-operating in a permanent farm plan yet to be worked out, Smith commented:

"Wait till you see the revision."

Secretary Wallace, who appeared before both senate and house groups, merely said:

"Everybody's happy."

TAKES "RAP" SO HIS BROTHER CAN GO FREE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24 —(AP)— So that his younger brother, Jack, 26, might go free, James Cummings, 45, virtually asked today for his two year prison sentence.

The brothers and Forest Darling of Kansas City, were put on trial on larceny charges, but they suddenly changed their pleas from innocent to guilty—the older brother taking the blame.

The charge against Jack was stricken because of "disputed evidence" and Judge J. Earl Major sentenced James and Darling to two years each. The brothers had been arrested the day after their release from Leavenworth penitentiary.

Bundesen And His State Ticket To Tour Downstate

Preliminary Trip Will Start On February Third

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Cook county (Chicago) Democratic organization laid plans tonight to send its slate of state candidates, headed by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, its choice for governor, on a preliminary tour of Illinois starting Feb. 3.

An itinerary for the trip, Dr. Bundesen said, was being prepared by the downstate Democratic committee at Springfield. Candidates were expected to visit both rural and urban districts in a 10 day tour.

At its meeting today, the Chicago organization approved its county, judicial and sanitary district slates and reaffirmed its support of Dr. Bundesen, president of the board of health, as a candidate against Governor Henry Horner at the April primary.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who won a rather belated endorsement from the central committee, spoke sharply to its members today.

"I have tried," he said in part. "To carry out policies which the people would approve. How well I have succeeded has been demonstrated within the last 10 days by the press and civic organizations when there was talk of dropping me.

"Every man should conduct himself in a manner which will reflect credit on the party. It is difficult to win without party endorsement, but endorsement is not sufficient for election. One must have the approval of the supreme court—the citizenry.

"There is no time for politics in the prosecution of crime," Courtney continued. "A prosecutor cannot persecute his political opponents, and the office cannot be used to promote political issues."

Somewhat less heatedly, the state's attorney concluded by pledging his support to "the man on the ticket."

ZERO TEMPERATURES DAMAGE SOFT WHEAT

Murphysboro, Ill., Jan. 24—(AP)—Subzero temperatures of the past two days seriously damaged soft wheat in the Southern Illinois belt, unofficial reports received at the Farm Bureau office revealed today.

J. G. McCall, Jackson county farm adviser said the wheat already damaged by Hessian Fly was easy pray for the high winds and low temperatures and estimated the damage would range 15 to 25 percent.

Concern was expressed in the Centralia and Salem peach growing areas that the cold weather had caused some damage to peach buds. South of Centralia, however, the damage to peach buds was reported light.

PHYSICIAN DIES

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Roland V. Curner, 38, a practicing physician in Aurora for eight years, died in a Milwaukee hospital today. He had been in ill-health for several weeks. Dr. Curner is survived by his widow, Carol, and two daughters.

John Stelle Says Relief Costs In State Too High

Claims Something Should Be Done About It Quickly

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—State Treasurer John Stelle launched a vigorous assault upon relief administrative costs and supplemental aid to works progress administration workers at a meeting of the Illinois emergency relief commission today.

Stelle, who was favored by Democratic slate-makers as a candidate for lieutenant governor, said that relief cases have dropped 40 per cent since December 1934 while the cost of administering them has only dropped 25 per cent.

"We're getting censored, and rightfully so, about our administrative staffs," Stelle said. "We ought to do something quickly."

After Stelle left the meeting, the remaining four members adopted a resolution urging Governor Horner and the general assembly to provide additional funds for the continuation of relief until May 1. The resolution pointed out that funds expected to be made available to the IERC would provide relief for a period not later than February 15.

Stelle stated that relief districts should dovetail with the seven works progress administration districts in the matter of boundaries and headquarters location.

"The two organizations should keep in closer contact," he said. "It would reduce administrative costs."

Executive Secretary Leo M. Lyons of the IERC agreed that if this were done, some of the 13 district representatives could be eliminated.

"Veto" History Of Bonus Legislation

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Here is a "veto" history of bonus legislation:

1922—Warren G. Harding:

"Though undying gratitude is in the meed x x x it is not to be said that a material bestowal is an obligation."

1924—Calvin Coolidge:

"There is no moral justification for it."

1931—Herbert Hoover:

"The bonus act (for payment in 1934) was passed x x x upon the explicit understanding x x x that the matter was closed."

1935—Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"The (nation's) credit is safe but it can not ultimately be safe if we engage in a policy of yielding to each and all x x x groups."

1936—Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"I respectfully refer the members of the senate and of the house x x x to every word of what I said then (in 1935)."

Fireman Killed In Coal Hopper

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A brief failure in the heating system of the children's Memorial Hospital led to the discovery today of the body of Ray Dixler, 27, a fireman, crushed under several tons of coal in the automatic hopper.

The position of the body indicated Dixler had attempted to break up frozen masses of fuel and fell into the hopper. His body was pushed toward the furnace until caught by prongs.

With the body cutting off the fuel supply from the fire, the temperature in the hospital dropped a few degrees and other employes went to the basement to investigate. They cut through a side of the hopper with a blow torch and found Dixler's body.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Washington, Jan. 24 —(AP)— Representative Kent E. Keller, Ava, Ill. Democrat, announced today his candidacy for another term.

GOVERNOR TO DETERMINE IF BRUNO FRAMED

Hoffman Expresses Doubts About Lindy Kidnap Case

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman sought today to determine whether any "framed" evidence or any "prejudice and bias" contributed to the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

In a letter to J. Lyle Kinmonth, publisher of the Asbury Park Press, the governor elaborated on his "doubts" about the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case and said:

"I want to know whether a public demand that law enforcement agencies 'make good' might in any way have caused evidence to be framed."

A list of questions submitted to the governor tonight included one whether he had any information that state evidence was planted. He declined to answer it. He also declined to answer when asked if he was satisfied with the state police conduct of the case, and whether he intended to replace Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police superintendent, whose term expires in May.

Defense attorneys repeatedly have attacked the state's contention one part of the kidnap ladder came from the attic of Hauptmann's Bronx home. In federal courts last week when it unsuccessfully sought writs of habeas corpus the defense charged the state "failed to disclose" at the trial evidence that the kidnap ladder "was materially altered and changed."

The governor told Kinmonth he hoped defense counsel and others "interested in a full solution x x x will be able to secure evidence of sufficient value for consideration in an unprejudiced and unbiased manner."

Republicans Meet; Name No Candidate

Chicagoans May Select Slate To Oppose Boom Of W. Brooks

Chicago, Jan. 24. —(AP)— Twenty-eight members of the Cook county (Chicago) Republican central committee who did not join the boom for Wayland Brooks for governor marshaled their forces at a meeting today, but did not endorse a rival candidate.

Brooks was endorsed for the Republican nomination by the same number of committeemen last night, after all 61 members of the committee voted to abrogate the rule prohibiting them from endorsing any one who could not gain the support of 80 per cent of the committee.

All 28 who met today were opponents of the Weber-Moore-Harding faction, which engineered last night's "coupe d'etat." Speakers expressed a determination to select a separate slate, but there were no names advanced for the gubernatorial position.

H. Wallace Caldwell, former president of the school board, and John G. Oglesby of Elkhart, former lieutenant governor, were being mentioned among the committeemen as possible candidates for consideration.

Planes Collided Fliers Killed

Honolulu, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Two army bombing planes collided over Luke Army Aviation field shortly after 7 o'clock tonight and fell to the ground in flames. Several members of the crews were believed killed.

Army hospital authorities said they understood two fliers were killed and four injured, although this could not be definitely learned immediately.

The planes, returning from regular night maneuvers, were ready to land at the air base when they hit.

The collision occurred approximately 1,000 feet in the air and both ships fell in flames near the airbase building.

Army authorities began an immediate investigation.

Cold Weather Duties

It is not too late to remind Morgan county citizens of some of the duties which the subzero temperatures of the past few days compel them to perform. One of the most important is the proper care of farm animals. All livestock should be within shelter, especially at night. One section reports poultry frozen to death in open shelters and roosting in trees. Farmers who want to save their poultry should see that the fowls are housed.

When it is necessary to use horses, bits should be warmed in water or kept by the fire for a time before being put in the animals' mouths. Frosty bits will cause much suffering, which the horse is unable to express. Users of horses should see that they are protected and cared for. Warm water should be placed conveniently for birds and animals, because all outdoor sources are tightly frozen.

A duty that keeps the average citizen busy is stoking the stove or furnace. Most of us do this without being reminded when we feel the arctic cold creeping in around the windows and doors. Even with care and forethought, many deaths have already resulted from the deadly cold.

These suggestions are still timely, even tho the peak of the cold wave has passed—or maybe it was the trough—Another cold wave is said to be possible, following the snow which began yesterday afternoon. It is hoped the record low temperatures for the season have already been made.

Millions For Boondoggling

The government is spending $350,000,000 on WPA and PWA projects which benefit the world of sport. Maybe the physical life of the masses will be benefited, but not much more than it would have been had the people been allowed to provide their own recreation. That used to be the rule, but now it is the exception. Play financed by the taxpayers has become popular, but the expenditure for sport is not any worse than some of the other outlays the government is making.

There is, for example, the project of taking a census of trees in Harrisburg, Pa. Relief workers count the trees and doubtless catalogue them. We have read somewhere that Russia follows some such procedure and numbers every tree on a piece of property in a sort of inventory of communist possessions.

A Pittsburgh, Pa., project calls for the computing of the area and cubic contents of all buildings in Allegheny county. That is a large order, and many a WPA worker will be on the payroll for a long time figuring up the information. When it is all done, the government might continue the work with another project to determine how much the first one cost the taxpayers per cubic foot of building content figured.

Relief clients who have a yen to haunt libraries should go west where they can get paid for haunting. California has a corps of literary advisers paid by Uncle Sam, whose duty it is to aid patrons of public libraries in selecting appropriate reading matter. How the advisers determine what reading matter is appropriate to each patron is not stated. Maybe another project provides them with instruction on this point. We prefer to select our own reading matter, and we advise the literary advisers it will hardly consist of literature favorable to such a scandalous system of wasting public money.

In Jersey City, N. J., relief workers are building bird houses. In a room on Ellis Island four so-called artists and two models sat around for six months waiting for an inspiration to paint something, meanwhile being paid by the government. They loafed, sang and told stories, until the immigration authorities got tired of them, and a government that almost numbers the hairs on the heads of its proteges, removed them elsewhere.

Where a King Can't Go

One would hardly believe there is any place where a King of England cannot go; but Edward VIII finds that in assuming the crown, he must give up visiting one place where he most liked to go, the House of Commons. When he was the Prince of Wales there was a gallery seat reserved for him; but as King of England, he is not expected ever again to enter the House of Commons. In the words of the British, "It isn't done."

The custom is backed by centuries of precedent. In fact the Commons have a perfect right to refuse admittance to the King, which is just another indication that England is a real democracy. There is a throne for the king in the House of Lords, but he occupies it only at the official opening of Parliament.

Ever since King John was forced to make concessions he very much disliked, the rights of king and people have been rigidly defined. King John parted with many of his sovereign powers, which became the basis for the British Magna Charta. The people have always been jealous of that document, which is in reality the British guarantee of liberty, which might be called a Constitution.

Dear Sir:

Ninety-nine per cent of our trouble is located in the human being, not in nature's fault.

Man has caused greater disasters than nature—our natural resource was sufficient to supply all of our needs until the Politicians advanced the "Utopian Theory."

Sir Thomas More, in his "Utopia" admitted that it was only imaginary, but our Cure All Politicians would have us believe that it can be made a reality.

In the past decade we have heard much about a TARIFF and PROCESS TAX to protect the farmer. Why don't they mention some facts. Our Government is making loans to the farmers to buy tractors which are not practical: The tractor consumes none of the farmers produce, the tractor has put more than TWO MILLION farm laborers out of employment,—the tractor has opened no new Industry,—the TRACTOR INDUSTRY formerly manufactured a more practical farm machinery and employed as much labor as they now employ,—the tractor is now doing the work that was formerly done by NINE MILLION horses and mules, each of which consumed approximately ten pounds of grain and fourteen pounds of hay per day.

You make a Government loan, then press the center valve down; the Politicans go Round and a Round, then Utopia comes out here, B,low! below, below.

THE MOVING FINGER WRITES—

Behind The Scenes In Washington

"Coincidences" Are Numerous in Bitter Fight to Squelch Munitions Probe . . . Nye Blast at Wilson Conceded to Be Blunder . . Taffy Pull in House . . . Rush Holt Is Out After Collector's Scalp.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—Washington is a city of coincidences, and the so-called long arm of coincidence has seldom been busier here than in the recent series of explosions around, about, and under Senator Gerald Nye and the munitions committee.

COINCIDENCE NO. 1: The Democratic attempt to suppress the munitions investigation came a week or ten days before the committee was scheduled to reveal certain negotiations as to proposed sale of airplanes to Russia in which a son of a leading member of the administration was to figure prominently.

COINCIDENCE NO. 2: The movement to strangle the investigation almost immediately preceded a turn of the spotlight to alleged methods by which the Treasury was said to have been of assistance to the Morgans after America entered the war—at a time when W. G. McAdoo, now a senator, was secretary of the treasury.

COINCIDENCE NO. 3: The onslaught began shortly before the committee expected to reveal names of certain American companies—especially oil concerns—and the value of their shipments of war materials to Italy.

COINCIDENCE NO. 4: Senator Tom Connally of Texas, who started the attack on Nye in ostensible defense of Woodrow Wilson's memory, happens to be an outstanding champion of oil interests here.

A Serious Blunder

That's the way things happen here. Perhaps you remember the recent coincidence wherein Mr. du Pont and Mr. Raskob, who were pounced on by the Treasury as a result of ancient income tax operations, turned out to be American Liberty Leaguers and very bitter enemies of the Roosevelt administration.

But even those who stress these various coincidences are willing to admit that Nye, despite his accumulation of supporting evidence, made a tactless blunder when he said that Wilson had "falsified" in denying knowledge of the secret Allied treaties prior to the Paris peace conference.

It's a matter for interesting speculation whether conservative Democrats would have come crashing down on Nye so enthusiastically if certain forces hadn't already been crouched to pounce as soon as they were given an opening—in other words, if it hadn't been for the "coincidences."

Holt Is Scalp Hunting

Rush Holt, 30-year-old senator from West Virginia, and Matthew Neely, senior senator from the same state, are not the least bit chummy any more.

The chief political job in West Virginia is that of collector of internal revenue and it is held by Walter R. Thurmond, Neely's spokesman and patronage boss.

Holt has declared that Thurmond must go. Among the bases of his attack is the fact that Thurmond was head of the coal operators' associations in West Virginia in a period when scores of miners were killed in labor clashes.

Holt has a pile of books which contain references to Thurmond and a sheaf of resolutions against Thurmond passed by lodges of the United Mine Workers.

Pals No More

Another once beautiful friendship now busted is that of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and his successor in Congress and former campaign manager, Vito Marcantonio.

The break came through differences over the handling of New York's relief problem and it's so bad that when one day a friend, using the mayor's nickname, asked, "How's the 'Little Flower'?" Mancantonio replied:

"Huh! You mean 'old Stinkweed?'!"

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS DRESS FOR WARMTH

Don Breeches and Boots to Defy Zero Weather

A visitor at the Jacksonville High school during the past few days would have concluded that the boys greatly outnumbered the girls in the student body; but such is not the case. The girls have been attending school garbed in trousers, sweaters and boots, in order to obtain more warmth during the sub-zero weather.

The fad started when several girls came to school wearing ski suits. The trousers to these outfits are warm and comfortable and have proved popular. Then the fad spread. Those who did not have skit suits donned breeches and boots and appeared at school dressed for winter.

The halls have been filled with "boys." In fact the only difference in appearance of the two sexes has been in the cut of the hair, and when the girls wear "boyish bobs," even that difference disappears.

VIRGINIA

Kenneth Drew was in Peoria Wednesday to attend a C. I. P. S. meeting.

The Eastern Star chapter held the regular meeting at the lodge rooms Tuesday evening. The business session was presided over by Mrs. Mae Jokisch, Worthy Matron, and was followed by a social hour, which was arranged by a committee composed of Mesdames G. H. Husted, D. A. Yowell, Riney Wankel and F. W. Bristow. Miss Alsie Parks, a guest of the chapter, won the prize in a contest. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Raymond Whittaker, who has been employed in Detroit, is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whitaker.

The Virginia Public Schools were dismissed at noon Wednesday on account of the severe cold weather and the snow drifts, which made the walks almost impassable, and the high wind made it difficult to keep the walks and streets clear of drifts.

C. Chase Savage, of Springfield, was a visitor in this city Wednesday. Mr and Mrs. Norris, of Chicago, have been visiting his father, John Norris, who is slightly improved after a long illness.

State Hospital to Install Generator

New Engine and Electrical Equipment Planned at Cost of $50,000

A new alternating current engine and electric generator will be installed in the Jacksonville State hospital power house within the next few months, State Welfare Department officials announced yesterday. Hayden Walker, business manager at the institution, said bids will be called for within a short time, and that the improvement will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The new engine and generator have been made necessary by the building of the new tuberculosis building, and other additional structures. The new project includes a distributing system between the power house and tuberculosis building.

Most of the power at the hospital now is direct current, but state officials have outlined a program for converting the power to alternating current. The new engine and generator will product alternating current.

Roy Brown was a Friday afternoon caller in Jacksonville from Springfield.

Thirty-one Women Have Employment In Sewing Room

Many Garments Made for the Relief of Families in Greene County

White Hall—The Greene County IERC sewing project this year is being held in the Avery building on Main street, and at present employs thirty-one women, and all except two are from relief rolls. Those two are Mrs. Edan McFarland and Mrs. Fannie Teter, who are in charge of the work and supervise the sewing.

The women come from all parts of the county each day in the week except one. They are engaged in making bed comforts, crocheted rag rugs, dresses, denim jackets for men, towels, shirts, slips, gowns, bloomers, layettes and children's clothing.

Twelve sewing machines are used in the work room. The rag rugs are crocheted from materials too small to be used for anything else, of scraps left from cutting other articles.

The project started December 11 and up until Tuesday, January 21, there had been delivered to needy families in the county 120 dresses, 157 comforts, 63 shirts, 17 gowns, 18 stepins, 15 smocks, 24 bloomers, 9 rompers, 24 slips, 6 boys' suits, 28 crocheted rugs, 1,176 huck towels, and 32 pajamas. Many more articles are ready to be distributed when there is call for them.

Materials are running short and unless more material is received soon, the work will have to be suspended. Most of the women this week are hemming towels, waiting for other material.

Becomes Ill Suddenly

Mrs. Henry Wemken was taken suddenly ill in a store in Jacksonville Wednesday, while waiting with her husband, to attend the funeral of her half brother, Marvin Beerup, and was unable to attend the funeral or come to her home here. She was taken to the home of a relative in Jacksonville.

Harry Ralston, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ralston, living near Glasgow, sustained a serious injury to his eye and face Thursday evening after dark, when he was hooked by a cow with her horn. He was brought to the office of Dr. W. H. Garrison in White Hall who dressed the wounds. The cow's horn cut the corner of the lower lid of the right eye, but it is thought the sight will not be injured. He was also given a tetanus shot.

Husband and Wife

A. E. Vosseler is confined to his bed at his home on West Bridgeport street suffering with a deep cold. His wife is a patient in Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, and her condition is regarded as serious, although she was reported to be better Thursday.

Everett Goacher of the Birch Creek vicinity is quite ill with influenza, at his home.

Home Bureau Meets

Mrs. A. R. McConathy was hostess to the White Hall unit of the Greene County Home Bureau at her home east of the city at an all day meeting Thursday. There were eighteen members present. Mrs. L. J. Lorton, local major leader, and Mrs. A. B. Mansfield, substitute, were in charge of the projects. Mrs. Mansfield demonstrated variations of yeast bread and made pecan rolls, Parkerhouse rolls, and clover leaf rolls. The meeting started at 10:30 and a pot luck dinner was served at noon.

In the afternoon a business session was held and the minor project was introduced. Cutting out paper patterns for collars, and darning on net were included in this.

Mrs. Lee Griswold entertained the members of the Apple Creek Prairie club at her home west of the city, Wednesday at an all day meeting. There were twenty-five present in spite of the sub-zero weather. A pot-luck dinner, business and games constituted the program.

Miss Hattie Walton of Springfield came down last Sunday to attend the funeral of Philader Floyd and remained as the guest of Mrs. Florence Dunphy until Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Kelley of St. Louis who came here to attend the funeral of her uncle, Joseph Ryder, has returned to the city after a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Lucy Kelley on Worcester street. Her brother, Ross Kelley of Hannibal, also attended the funeral and has returned home.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Sherwin of St. Louis attended the funeral of Joseph Ryder.

Al Cratz of the Concord community was among those transacting business in Jacksonville yesterday.

CHARLIE CHAN'S SECRET

WARNER OLAND weaves his wildest web in a house of death, in "Charlie Chan's Secret." CHARLES QUIGLEY and ROSINA LAWRENCE play the romantic leads in this fascinating Fox mystery picture.

The occult powers of spiritualist mediums prove no match for Warner Oland as the famous Chinese detective tracks down a killer and uncovers conspiracy in the most thrilling and adventure-filled of his pictures, "Charlie Chan's Secrets," which opens Sunday at the FOX MAJESTIC.

It is Chan's task in the new picture to trace the missing heir to the Colby millions. From Honolulu to San Francisco he hurries, suddenly to find his man stabbed through the back and mysteriously appearing at a spiritualistic seance.

A maze of motives links everyone in the victim's family with the murder, but from the slim clues at hand, Chan proceeds to set up his case. Attempts are made on the life of the victim's aunt, Henrietta Crosman, and on Chan.

Finally having tracked down the spiritualists, Chan assembles all the suspects to reenact the seance. In the thrilling climax, Chan cleverly contrives to have the murderer give himself away, and brings the story to a happy conclusion.

The leading romantic roles are played by Rosina Lawrence and Charles Quigley.

FINALS

Today will wind up the finals of the Amateur contest, and one of the eight contestants will receive an all expense paid trip to New York, to take part in the Feen-A-Mint National Amateur hour, which will be broadcast over the Columbia network Sunday, February 2nd.

A special 16 piece orchestra will be presented in the finals with Freddie Lynn as master of ceremonies. It will be a real treat so be sure to see it.

A special feature for Saturday only featuring the Cimme Girls, Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell in "MISS PACIFIC FLEET" will tickle you Pink in Navy Blue. See them two-time their way through Uncle Sam's Navy.

CEILING ZERO

James Cagney and June Travis

The announcement that the Broadway stage success "CEILING ZERO" was to be brought to the screen as a Cosmopolitan production, promptly started an avalanche of letters and telegrams from every airline head, offering fullest cooperation.

This was because the air mail and passenger firms were familiar with Commander Frank Wead's play, and the beneficial effects it was having on the aviation industry.

Encouraged by this, First National Pictures placed every facility of its North Hollywood studio at the disposal of Director Howard Hawks and assigned two of the firm's most competent male stars to head the list of twenty-odd major players.

These were James Cagney and Pat O'Brien who had teamed in "Here Comes the Navy," "Devil Dogs of the Air," and "The Irish In Us."

Cold Weather Duties

It is not too late to remind Morgan county citizens of some of the duties which the subzero temperatures of the past few days compel them to perform. One of the most important is the proper care of farm animals. All livestock should be within shelter, especially at night. One section reports poultry frozen to death in open shelters and roosting in trees. Farmers who want to save their poultry should see that the fowls are housed.

When it is necessary to use horses, bits should be warmed in water or kept by the fire for a time before being put in the animals' mouths. Frosty bits will cause much suffering, which the horse is unable to express. Users of horses should see that they are protected and cared for. Warm water should be placed conveniently for birds and animals, because all outdoor sources are tightly frozen.

A duty that keeps the average citizen busy is stoking the stove or furnace. Most of us do this without being reminded when we feel the arctic cold creeping in around the windows and doors. Even with care and forethought, many deaths have already resulted from the deadly cold.

These suggestions are still timely, even tho the peak of the cold wave has passed—or maybe it was the trough—Another cold wave is said to be possible, following the snow which began yesterday afternoon. It is hoped the record low temperatures for the season have already been made.

Rush Holt, 30-year-old senator from West Virginia, and Matthew Neely, senior senator from the same state, are not the least bit chummy any more.

The chief political job in West Virginia is that of collector of internal revenue and it is held by Walter R. Thurmond, Neely's spokesman and patronage boss.

Holt has declared that Thurmond must go. Among the bases of his attack is the fact that Thurmond was head of the coal operators' associations in West Virginia in a period when scores of miners were killed in labor clashes.

Holt has a pile of books which contain references to Thurmond and a sheaf of resolutions against Thurmond passed by lodges of the United Mine Workers.

Pals No More

Another once beautiful friendship now busted is that of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and his successor in Congress and former campaign manager, Vito Marcantonio.

The break came through differences over the handling of New York's relief problem and it's so bad that when one day a friend, using the mayor's nickname, asked, "How's the 'Little Flower'?" Mancantonio replied:

"Huh! You mean 'old Stinkweed?'!"

Congressional Taffy

Congressman Eaton of New Jersey: "Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?"

Congressman O'Connor of New York: "No, I do not want to yield."

Congressman Eaton: "Oh, could you not yield just once, John?"

Congressman O'Connor: "Oh, yes; if you put it that way, I can not resist."

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS DRESS FOR WARMTH

Don Breeches and Boots to Defy Zero Weather

A visitor at the Jacksonville High school during the past few days would have concluded that the boys greatly outnumbered the girls in the student body; but such is not the case. The girls have been attending school garbed in trousers, sweaters and boots, in order to obtain more warmth during the sub-zero weather.

The fad started when several girls came to school wearing ski suits. The trousers to these outfits are warm and comfortable and have proved popular. Then the fad spread. Those who did not have skit suits donned breeches and boots and appeared at school dressed for winter.

The halls have been filled with "boys." In fact the only difference in appearance of the two sexes has been in the cut of the hair, and when the girls wear "boyish bobs," even that difference disappears.

VIRGINIA

Kenneth Drew was in Peoria Wednesday to attend a C. I. P. S. meeting.

The Eastern Star chapter held the regular meeting at the lodge rooms Tuesday evening. The business session was presided over by Mrs. Mae Jokisch, Worthy Matron, and was followed by a social hour, which was arranged by a committee composed of Mesdames G. H. Husted, D. A. Yowell, Riney Wankel and F. W. Bristow. Miss Alsie Parks, a guest of the chapter, won the prize in a contest. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Raymond Whittaker, who has been employed in Detroit, is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whitaker.

The Virginia Public Schools were dismissed at noon Wednesday on account of the severe cold weather and the snow drifts, which made the walks almost impassable, and the high wind made it difficult to keep the walks and streets clear of drifts.

C. Chase Savage, of Springfield, was a visitor in this city Wednesday. Mr and Mrs. Norris, of Chicago, have been visiting his father, John Norris, who is slightly improved after a long illness.

State Hospital to Install Generator

New Engine and Electrical Equipment Planned at Cost of $50,000

A new alternating current engine and electric generator will be installed in the Jacksonville State hospital power house within the next few months, State Welfare Department officials announced yesterday. Hayden Walker, business manager at the institution, said bids will be called for within a short time, and that the improvement will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The new engine and generator have been made necessary by the building of the new tuberculosis building, and other additional structures. The new project includes a distributing system between the power house and tuberculosis building.

Most of the power at the hospital now is direct current, but state officials have outlined a program for converting the power to alternating current. The new engine and generator will product alternating current.

Roy Brown was a Friday afternoon caller in Jacksonville from Springfield.

Thirty-one Women Have Employment In Sewing Room

Many Garments Made for the Relief of Families in Greene County

White Hall—The Greene County IERC sewing project this year is being held in the Avery building on Main street, and at present employs thirty-one women, and all except two are from relief rolls. Those two are Mrs. Edan McFarland and Mrs. Fannie Teter, who are in charge of the work and supervise the sewing.

The women come from all parts of the county each day in the week except one. They are engaged in making bed comforts, crocheted rag rugs, dresses, denim jackets for men, towels, shirts, slips, gowns, bloomers, layettes and children's clothing.

Twelve sewing machines are used in the work room. The rag rugs are crocheted from materials too small to be used for anything else, of scraps left from cutting other articles.

The project started December 11 and up until Tuesday, January 21, there had been delivered to needy families in the county 120 dresses, 157 comforts, 63 shirts, 17 gowns, 18 stepins, 15 smocks, 24 bloomers, 9 rompers, 24 slips, 6 boys' suits, 28 crocheted rugs, 1,176 huck towels, and 32 pajamas. Many more articles are ready to be distributed when there is call for them.

Materials are running short and unless more material is received soon, the work will have to be suspended. Most of the women this week are hemming towels, waiting for other material.

Becomes Ill Suddenly

Mrs. Henry Wemken was taken suddenly ill in a store in Jacksonville Wednesday, while waiting with her husband, to attend the funeral of her half brother, Marvin Beerup, and was unable to attend the funeral or come to her home here. She was taken to the home of a relative in Jacksonville.

Harry Ralston, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ralston, living near Glasgow, sustained a serious injury to his eye and face Thursday evening after dark, when he was hooked by a cow with her horn. He was brought to the office of Dr. W. H. Garrison in White Hall who dressed the wounds. The cow's horn cut the corner of the lower lid of the right eye, but it is thought the sight will not be injured. He was also given a tetanus shot.

Husband and Wife

A. E. Vosseler is confined to his bed at his home on West Bridgeport street suffering with a deep cold. His wife is a patient in Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, and her condition is regarded as serious, although she was reported to be better Thursday.

Everett Goacher of the Birch Creek vicinity is quite ill with influenza, at his home.

Home Bureau Meets

Mrs. A. R. McConathy was hostess to the White Hall unit of the Greene County Home Bureau at her home east of the city at an all day meeting Thursday. There were eighteen members present. Mrs. L. J. Lorton, local major leader, and Mrs. A. B. Mansfield, substitute, were in charge of the projects. Mrs. Mansfield demonstrated variations of yeast bread and made pecan rolls, Parkerhouse rolls, and clover leaf rolls. The meeting started at 10:30 and a pot luck dinner was served at noon.

In the afternoon a business session was held and the minor project was introduced. Cutting out paper patterns for collars, and darning on net were included in this.

Mrs. Lee Griswold entertained the members of the Apple Creek Prairie club at her home west of the city, Wednesday at an all day meeting. There were twenty-five present in spite of the sub-zero weather. A pot-luck dinner, business and games constituted the program.

Miss Hattie Walton of Springfield came down last Sunday to attend the funeral of Philader Floyd and remained as the guest of Mrs. Florence Dunphy until Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Kelley of St. Louis who came here to attend the funeral of her uncle, Joseph Ryder, has returned to the city after a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Lucy Kelley on Worcester street. Her brother, Ross Kelley of Hannibal, also attended the funeral and has returned home.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Sherwin of St. Louis attended the funeral of Joseph Ryder.

Al Cratz of the Concord community was among those transacting business in Jacksonville yesterday.

CHARLIE CHAN'S SECRET

WARNER OLAND weaves his wildest web in a house of death, in "Charlie Chan's Secret." CHARLES QUIGLEY and ROSINA LAWRENCE play the romantic leads in this fascinating Fox mystery picture.

The occult powers of spiritualist mediums prove no match for Warner Oland as the famous Chinese detective tracks down a killer and uncovers conspiracy in the most thrilling and adventure-filled of his pictures, "Charlie Chan's Secrets," which opens Sunday at the FOX MAJESTIC.

It is Chan's task in the new picture to trace the missing heir to the Colby millions. From Honolulu to San Francisco he hurries, suddenly to find his man stabbed through the back and mysteriously appearing at a spiritualistic seance.

A maze of motives links everyone in the victim's family with the murder, but from the slim clues at hand, Chan proceeds to set up his case. Attempts are made on the life of the victim's aunt, Henrietta Crosman, and on Chan.

Finally having tracked down the spiritualists, Chan assembles all the suspects to reenact the seance. In the thrilling climax, Chan cleverly contrives to have the murderer give himself away, and brings the story to a happy conclusion.

The leading romantic roles are played by Rosina Lawrence and Charles Quigley.

FINALS

Today will wind up the finals of the Amateur contest, and one of the eight contestants will receive an all expense paid trip to New York, to take part in the Feen-A-Mint National Amateur hour, which will be broadcast over the Columbia network Sunday, February 2nd.

CEILING ZERO

James Cagney and June Travis

The announcement that the Broadway stage success "CEILING ZERO" was to be brought to the screen as a Cosmopolitan production, promptly started an avalanche of letters and telegrams from every airline head, offering fullest cooperation.

This was because the air mail and passenger firms were familiar with Commander Frank Wead's play, and the beneficial effects it was having on the aviation industry.

Encouraged by this, First National Pictures placed every facility of its North Hollywood studio at the disposal of Director Howard Hawks and assigned two of the firm's most competent male stars to head the list of twenty-odd major players.

These were James Cagney and Pat O'Brien who had teamed in "Here Comes the Navy," "Devil Dogs of the Air," and "The Irish In Us."

Passes today at Fox Illinois for Carlyle E. Scott, R R 3, Franklin. At Fox Majestic for Glen C. Hickle, 302 Woodland Place.

A DAILY ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Canned Soup Is Basis for Home-made Kind

Serving Same Variety all the Time is Needlessly Repetitious.

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

You could, if you set yourself to it, serve a different soup every day in the year without exhausting the possibilities. After going through the list of stimulating consommes and bouillons, bisques and cream soups and chowders you'd come across exotic and delicious fruit soups which might taste odd to American palates. Most likely you'll rely on canned soups, which are available innumerable vegetable and meat combinations. For a nippy January night this Italian onion soup, which can be made with caned bouillon or cubes, will hit the spot.

Italian Onion Soup

Two Bermuda onions, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 cups brown stock (of 5 bouillon cubes and 4 cups water or canned bouillon in an equal amount), 4 slices bread, 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Melt butter and add onions peeled and thinly sliced. Cook over a low fire until tender and richly browned. Heat stock to the boiling point and add to onions. Simmer ten minutes. Toast bread. Put a slice of toast in each soup plate or bowl and pour the hot soup with the onions over it. Sprinkle lightly with cheese and serve with a dish of grated cheese so each person may help himself to more as he likes.

Serve this soup with a spinach and egg salad and for dessert a deep dish apple pie or prune and almond Bavarian cream.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked bananas, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Salt codfish chowder with puffed crackers, stewed dried apricots, hickory nut squares, milk, tea.

DINNER: Roast cushion of veal, mashed potatoes, creamed leeks, salad of hothouse tomatoes and Chinese cabbage, prune and almond Bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Prune and Almond Bavarian Cream

One-half pound prunes, 1 orange, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, 4 tablespoons finely chopped blanched almonds, 1 cup whipping cream, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Wash prunes and let stand in cold water to cover over night. Cook in the same water with the grated rind of the orange. Soften gelatin in 4 tablespoons cool prune juice. Heat remaining juice, there should be one cup, and dissolve both sugar and gelatin in the boiling juice. As soon as juice boils, remove from fire and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Stone prunes and cut enough to make one-half cup into small pieces. Add to gelatin mixture with juice of orange. Stir over ice and water until mixture begins to thicken. Then add almonds, salt and cream whipped until firm. Decorate a mold with remaining prunes, pressing a blanched almond into each prune. Turn cream mixture into mold and let stand on ice until chilled and firm. Unmold and serve with custard sauce.

Salt codfish chowder with puffed crackers is another hearty soup that is appreciated in cold weather.

Salt Codfish Chowder

One half pound salt codfish, 3 potatoes, 1 onion, 2 slices fat salt pork, 1 teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon thyme, 2 cups water, 1 cup canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon soda, 2 cups milk, water crackers.

Cut codfish in small squares and soak in cold water for half an hour. Dice salt pork and fry to a crisp brown in the soup kettle. Cover with a layer of potatoes pared and cut in cubes, add a layer of fish and sprinkle with minced onion, pepper and thyme. Continue layer for layer until all is used. Add water, cover kettle and simmer for 40 minutes. Heat tomatoes, add soda and when effervescing stops, add them to the chowder. Heat milk to boiling point and add chowder and remove at once from the fire. Serve with

Puffed Crackers

Split hard round crackers, the kind commonly known as water crackers. Soak five minutes in ice water. Drain and spread lightly with melted butter, sprinkle with paprika and grated cheese and toast in a hot oven until brown and puffy.

Sudden Freeze of Century Ago Told In County History

No One Knows How Cold It Was; Blasts Left Suffering and Death

Headlines reading "A Surprise Attack" of stirring sub-zero weather which struck Wednesday noon without warning recalled to Morgan county historians "The Sudden Freeze" of 1836 in Illinois and Morgan county, which occurred just 100 years ago.

It was the most memorable instance of sudden fall of temperature in the state occuring December 20, 1836. According to records, several inches of snow had fallen on that day, and it was warm enough for rain to fall in the afternoon, which melted the snow into slush and water.

About two o'clock in the afternoon it began to grow dark from a heavy cloud, which was seen in the northwest. Almost instantly the strong wind, traveling at the rate of seventy miles an hour accompanied by a deep bellowing sound with an icy blast, swept over the land and everything was frozen hard.

The water of the little pools froze in waves, sharp edged and pointed. The chickens, pigs and other small animals were frozen in their tracks. Wagon wheels ceased to roll, frozen to the ground. Some men on horseback were frozen to their saddles and two men were found near Rushville, frozen to death while trying to light a fire.

As to the exact temperature no instrument has left any record, but it is a fact that ice was frozen six inches to a foot in thickness in a few hours.

MRS. MYRTLE DELLING DIES HERE THURSDAY

Mrs. Myrtle Delling of Jerseyville died at Our Saviour's hospital here Thursday. She entered the hospital Monday and submitted to an operation Tuesday morning.

Her husband, Harry Delling, who for many years conducted a shoe repair shop in Jerseyville, died several months ago. Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Delling are incomplete.

Emma C. Nighbert Summoned by Death

Relative of Morgan County Residents Passes Away Near Scottville

Mrs. Emma C. Nighbert, 77, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Westrope, west of Palmyra, Monday night. The deceased was a widow of Samuel Nighbert, and was the last surviving daughter of John P. and Melissa (McNeely) Seymour, having been born on their farm in Hartland on July 17, 1858.

In early life she was converted and united with the Hart's Prairie Baptist church. Nov. 6, 1878, she married Samuel W. Nighbert, who passed away June 18, 1923. Of six children born to them, Wm. C., an infant, and Roy A., aged 17, preceded their parents in death. Those surviving are C. E. Nighbert, Nellie Westrope and Myrl VanBebber, of Scottville, and Morris W. Nighbert, of Alton. She also leaves two grandsons, Dean VanBebber, of Manteno, and Harold Nighbert, of Jacksonville, and one brother, W. E. Seymour, of Franklin precinct.

Funeral services were conducted at the Westrope residence Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. John Alexander, of Hillview. Music was furnished by Mrs. Elmer Bowman and Mrs. O. L. Stults, of Palmyra, and the flowers were cared for by three nieces, Mrs. Doris McNeely and Mrs. Della McNeely, of Franklin, and Mrs. Gladys Wheeler of Centralia.

Interment was in Panther Creek cemetery. The bearers were Ralph Boyer, Charles Lynch, Leonard Vogel, John Ben Eades, Alvin Ruyle and Olen Crayne.

The minute detail with which the Soviet and its neighbors prepare for every war emergency is revealed in this scene at the Botkin Hospital in Moscow, where the doctors, attendants — and even the patient—practise conducting operations under gas raid conditions. A masked cameraman stands by to record the event, believed to be the first time an operation was performed with everyone masked.

Letters of Thanks To I.S.D. Juniors For Holiday Gifts

Battleship Commander and Dwight Hospital Head Express Gratitude

Miss Alma Mackness, local Red Cross executive secretary, has received letters of thanks from the U.S.S. Breese and Veterans' Hospital at Dwight, Ill., for menu covers and table decorations for Christmas which were sent out by the Junior Red Cross unit at the Illinois School for the Deaf.

Lieut. Commander Pal L. Meadows of the Breese also sent a copy of the Christmas dinner menu enjoyed by officers and crew of the battleship, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The spread was most inviting, consisting of soup, fruit cocktail, Virginia baked ham, roast turkey with all the trimmings, and three kinds of dessert, ice cream, mince pie and plum pudding, together with coffee, candy and nuts.

The letter from the commanding officer of the Breese follows:

Dear Miss Mackness:

We have received the 102 Christmas Menu covers that you have so kindly sent us. We certainly appreciate your kindness, as they really have filled a need.

I am sure that the beautiful card added more than a little touch of Christmas Spirit.

I am enclosing one of the covers that was used for Christmas showing our roster of officers and the menu for that day.

I want to thank you again for your thoughtfulness and hope you had a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Very truly yours,
Signed Pal L. Meadows,
Lieutenant Commander, U. S. Navy,
Commanding.

The letter of thanks from Dwight was written by Dr. R. W. Browne, manager of the institution, and reads as follows:

Dear Madam:

The one hundred miniature Christmas trees and the same number of greeting cards reached here safely, and were used for table and tray decorations at the Christmas Day dinner.

These trees and Christmas cards did indeed add a touch of Christmas spirit, as you hoped, and the Hospital sends you both appreciation and gratitude.

Please thank the members of the Junior Red Cross at the Illinois School for the Deaf for all the work and enthusiasm they put into these gifts, and tell them they had quite a part in providing a happy Christmas for the patients.

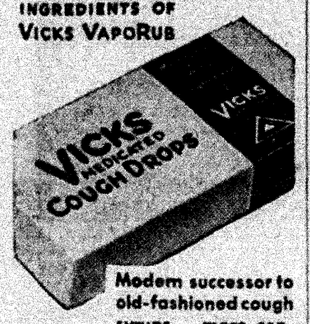

Yours very truly,
Signed, R. W. Browne, M. D.
Manager.

For a nippy January night this Italian onion soup, which can be made with caned bouillon or cubes, will hit the spot.

Italian Onion Soup

Two Bermuda onions, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 cups brown stock (of 5 bouillon cubes and 4 cups water or canned bouilion in an equal amount), 4 slices bread, 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Melt butter and add onions peeled and thinly sliced. Cook over a low fire until tender and richly browned. Heat stock to the boiling point and add to onions. Simmer ten minutes. Toast bread. Put a slice of toast in each soup plate or bowl and pour the hot soup with the onions over it. Sprinkle lightly with cheese and serve with a dish of grated cheese so each person may help himself to more as he likes.

Serve this soup with a spinach and egg salad and for dessert a deep dish apple pie or prune and almond Bavarian cream.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked bananas, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Salt codfish chowder with puffed crackers, stewed dried apricots, hickory nut squares, milk, tea.

DINNER: Roast cushion of veal, mashed potatoes, creamed leeks, salad of hothouse tomatoes and Chinese cabbage, prune and almond Bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Prune and Almond Bavarian Cream

One-half pound prunes, 1 orange, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, ½ cup sugar, few grains salt, 4 tablespoons finely chopped blanched almonds, 1 cup whipping cream, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Wash prunes and let stand in cold water to cover over night. Cook in the same water with the grated rind of the orange. Soften gelatin in 4 tablespoons cool prune juice. Heat remaining juice, there should be one cup, and dissolve both sugar and gelatin in the boiling juice. As soon as juice boils, remove from fire and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Stone prunes and cut enough to make one-half cup into small pieces. Add to gelatin mixture with juice of orange. Stir over ice and water until mixture begins to thicken. Then add almonds, salt and cream whipped until firm. Decorate a mold with remaining prunes, pressing a blanched almond into each prune. Turn cream mixture into mold and let stand on ice until chilled and firm. Unmold and serve with custard sauce.

Salt codfish chowder with puffed crackers is another hearty soup that is appreciated in cold weather.

Salt Codfish Chowder

One half pound salt codfish, 3 potatoes, 1 onion, 2 slices fat salt pork, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon thyme, 2 cups water, 1 cup canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon soda, 2 cups milk, water crackers.

Cut codfish in small squares and soak in cold water for half an hour. Dice salt pork and fry to a crisp brown in the soup kettle. Cover with a layer of potatoes pared and cut in cubes, add a layer of fish and sprinkle with minced onion, pepper and thyme. Continue layer for layer until all is used. Add water, cover kettle and simmer for 40 minutes. Heat tomatoes, add soda and when effervescing stops, add them to the chowder. Heat milk to boiling point and add chowder and remove at once from the fire. Serve with

Puffed Crackers

Split hard round crackers, the kind commonly known as water crackers. Soak five minutes in ice water. Drain and spread lightly with melted butter, sprinkle with paprika and grated cheese and toast in a hot oven until brown and puffy.

Sudden Freeze of Century Ago Told In County History

No One Knows How Cold It Was; Blasts Left Suffering and Death

Headlines reading "A Surprise Attack" of stirring sub-zero weather which struck Wednesday noon without warning recalled to Morgan county historians "The Sudden Freeze" of 1836 in Illinois and Morgan county, which occurred just 100 years ago.

It was the most memorable instance of sudden fall of temperature in the state occuring December 20, 1836. According to records, several inches of snow had fallen on that day, and it was warm enough for rain to fall in the afternoon, which melted the snow into slush and water.

About two o'clock in the afternoon it began to grow dark from a heavy cloud, which was seen in the northwest. Almost instantly the strong wind, traveling at the rate of seventy miles an hour accompanied by a deep bellowing sound with an icy blast, swept over the land and everything was frozen hard.

The water of the little pools froze in waves, sharp edged and pointed. The chickens, pigs and other small animals were frozen in their tracks. Wagon wheels ceased to roll, frozen to the ground. Some men on horseback were frozen to their saddles and two men were found near Rushville, frozen to death while trying to light a fire.

As to the exact temperature no instrument has left any record, but it is a fact that ice was frozen six inches to a foot in thickness in a few hours.

Emma C. Nighbert Summoned by Death

Relative of Morgan County Residents Passes Away Near Scottville

Mrs. Emma C. Nighbert, 77, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Westrope, west of Palmyra, Monday night. The deceased was a widow of Samuel Nighbert, and was the last surviving daughter of John P. and Melissa (McNeely) Seymour, having been born on their farm in Hartland on July 17, 1858.

In early life she was converted and united with the Hart's Prairie Baptist church. Nov. 6, 1878, she married Samuel W. Nighbert, who passed away June 18, 1923. Of six children born to them, Wm. C., an infant, and Roy A., aged 17, preceded their parents in death. Those surviving are C. E. Nighbert, Nellie Westrope and Myrl VanBebber, of Scottville, and Morris W. Nighbert, of Alton. She also leaves two grandsons, Dean VanBebber, of Manteno, and Harold Nighbert, of Jacksonville, and one brother, W. E. Seymour, of Franklin precinct.

Funeral services were conducted at the Westrope residence Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. John Alexander, of Hillview. Music was furnished by Mrs. Elmer Bowman and Mrs. O. L. Stults, of Palmyra, and the flowers were cared for by three nieces, Mrs. Doris McNeely and Mrs. Della McNeely, of Franklin, and Mrs. Gladys Wheeler of Centralia.

Interment was in Panther Creek cemetery. The bearers were Ralph Boyer, Charles Lynch, Leonard Vogel, John Ben Eades, Alvin Ruyle and Olen Crayne.

Letters of Thanks To I.S.D. Juniors For Holiday Gifts

Battleship Commander and Dwight Hospital Head Express Gratitude

Miss Alma Mackness, local Red Cross executive secretary, has received letters of thanks from the U.S.S. Breese and Veterans' Hospital at Dwight, Ill., for menu covers and table decorations for Christmas which were sent out by the Junior Red Cross unit at the Illinois School for the Deaf.

Lieut. Commander Pal L. Meadows of the Breese also sent a copy of the Christmas dinner menu enjoyed by officers and crew of the battleship, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The spread was most inviting, consisting of soup, fruit cocktail, Virginia baked ham, roast turkey with all the trimmings, and three kinds of dessert, ice cream, mince pie and plum pudding, together with coffee, candy and nuts.

The letter from the commanding officer of the Breese follows:

Dear Miss Mackness:

We have received the 102 Christmas Menu covers that you have so kindly sent us. We certainly appreciate your kindness, as they really have filled a need.

I am sure that the beautiful card added more than a little touch of Christmas Spirit.

I am enclosing one of the covers that was used for Christmas showing our roster of officers and the menu for that day.

I want to thank you again for your thoughtfulness and hope you had a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Very truly yours,
Signed Pal L. Meadows,
Lieutenant Commander, U. S. Navy,
Commanding.

The letter of thanks from Dwight was written by Dr. R. W. Browne, manager of the institution, and reads as follows:

Dear Madam:

The one hundred miniature Christmas trees and the same number of greeting cards reached here safely, and were used for table and tray decorations at the Christmas Day dinner.

These trees and Christmas cards did indeed add a touch of Christmas spirit, as you hoped, and the Hospital sends you both appreciation and gratitude.

Please thank the members of the Junior Red Cross at the Illinois School for the Deaf for all the work and enthusiasm they put into these gifts, and tell them they had quite a part in providing a happy Christmas for the patients.

Yours very truly,
Signed, R. W. Browne, M. D.
Manager.

Crimsons Turn Back Feitshans; Murrayville Defeats Rockets

Fast Break is Too Fast For Cyclone Five

J. H. S. Sweeps Them Aside By 39 To 23 Score With Accurate Firing

Jacksonville high's Crimsons picked up a Cyclone and dropped it with ease on the David Prince court last night their fast break whirling around the Cyclones from Feitshans high and creating a greater atmospheric disturbance to mark up a 39 to 23 victory. Feitshans young club was no match for the taller and more deceptive Crimsons, although the local club did not seem to be clicking as well as usual.

There were a few minutes at the start of the game when Feitshans' zone defense stopped the Crimsons sufficiently to make the score tight, but the Crimsons, with their usual slap-dash tactics, let the visitors have the ball, set up their own tight zone defense, and then snatched the ball for fast breaks coupled with long passes that resulted in several quick points.

Elmer Lukeman was on the receiving end of most of the long passes, and rammed in 16 points during the session to lead the Crimson scoring. Bob Hamm had a lot of tough luck, but his southpaw swinging caught the Feitshans guards off balance often enough for him to notch eight points from the field and another from the gift line. Big George Hamilton came in with six points to gratify the Crimson followers who have been wondering why the big fellow didn't toss in more points.

Harlow, a little bit of fellow, was the high gunner for the visitors, tossing in eight points, most of them from deep in the court. A clever little ball handler, Harlow was the king pin of the Feitshans attack, along with Jennings and Patrick, who each tossed in six points.

The Crimsons scored in the first half minutes of play, but Harlow tied it up and then Patrick gave the visitors the only lead they enjoyed during the game wih a free throw. Moxon rebounded a shot to give J. H. S. the lead again, Hamilton dropped in two free throws, Patrick hit a free throw, and then the Crimsons began carrying the fire to their opponents.

Whipping long passes around the court, Hamm raced in for a basket, Hamilton rebounded one, Moxon collected another, Bellatti eased in a free throw and Lukeman banged in a shot to make the count 15 to 5 at the end of the first quarter. Baptist replaced Bellatti at the start of the second period, and scored from the free throw line, after Jennings counted three pints on a basket and foul, then Hamilton, Lukeman and Hamm dropped in points to lift the score to 22-8. Harlow scoring just as the gun fired to make the count 22-10 at the end of the first half.

Nor did the Crimsons let up. They kept their fast break whirling down the floor to pile up a 31 to 15 margin at the end of the third quarter with two reserves playing a large part of the period, and continued to roll in points during the final eight minutes of play.

Postpone Finals Of Alsey Tournament

Alsey, Jan. 24.—Another postponement was declared in the Alsey grade school "Tin-Cup" tournament here tonight after Bluffs surprised a tall Roodhouse team to go into the finals by an 18 to 11 score, where they will meet Alsey, winners by a two point margin, 22 to 20, over Hardin.

M. G. Moore, in charge of the tournament, declared the postponement until Monday night of next week as a result of the inclement weather. Hardin and Roodhouse will meet in the consolation game, and Alsey and Bluffs will met in the titular game.

Bluffs sprung the biggest surprise by turning back the Roodhouse team, doped as almost sure to go to the finals.

Phillies in Market For Baseball Talent

But the Price Will Have to Be Right or There Will Be No Deals

Philadelphia.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, Gerry Nugent and company of the National League Phillies will be standing behind their trading counter, open for any kind of player deals—provided they're profitable—at the big league spring meeting next month.

Two of the smartest traders in the business, the peppery catcher-manager and the genial club president will swap almost anybody on the Phils' roster, if they thing the transaction will pan out for them.

Wilson confirmed that fact today, but refused to "name names," even when asked if First Baseman Dolph Camilli and Pitcher Curt Davis were among those up for sale or barter.

He did make clear, however, that the other clubs, particularly the Giants and Chicago Cubs, will have to offer "something more than nothing" for his players.

"The Giants could have had Camilli," Jimmy explained. "They wanted him—but they wanted him for nothing.

"The same thing goes for the Cubs, if they want Curt Davis and are willing to return Chuck Klein to us."

Jimmy's words gave the first confirmation from the Phils of the oft-rumored deals involving Camilli's proposed sale to New York and the transaction involving Davis, Klein, and the Cubs.

PLAINS CALLS OFF GAME WITH VIRGINIA

Pleasant Plains, Jan. 24.—Cold weather and a steady fall of snow that began early in the afternoon forced the cancellation of the scheduled basketball game between the local five and Virginia last night.

Because of conflicting schedules, it will be impossible to arrange for the contest at a later date.

Don Ransdale of the Pisgah neighborhood was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Games Tonight.

7:30 p. m.—Franklin vs. Converse.
8:30 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Ashland.

Ashland, Jan. 24.—Illinois School for the Deaf and Ashland will tangle in the final battle of the annual Ashland invitational tournament here Saturday night as the result of games played here tonight. The Tigers, with a steady finish in the last quarter, defeated Franklin 24 to 17, and Ashland won from Converse of Springfield handily 26 to 14. Franklin and Converse will meet for the consolation title in a preliminary.

Rajski led the Tiger scoring with nine points, but the well balanced Tiger team was too much for the Flashes, who bore up on even terms with them for three quarters, and then slumped when the pressure went on. The Flashes had their chances, but missed, while the Tigers tossed in points when the chances came around.

Dope points to a thrilling battle when the Tigers and Ashland hook up in the final duel, with the Tigers bearing a slight edge. They had a more difficult game with Franklin than Ashland was forced to show against Converse, but the excellently conditioned Tigers should not be materially handicapped.

Off in front against the Franklin lads, the Tigers had to battle them shot for shot through the second and third quarters before pulling the game out of the fire. Their ever moving attack, however, twisted up the Franklin defense and created the openings through which players moved for shots, sometimes from rather deep in the court, and other times from under the hoop.

The Tigers led 7-5 at the end of the first quarter, but Franklin tied the count at 12 all at the end of the first half. The Tigers got two points to one for Franklin in a hard fought third period, and then went off in front steadily during the final quarter.

Converse tossed a little fear into Ashland during the second quarter of their game, but the Panthers were quick to shake it off and take a lead to which they continued to add during the final period. Ashland snatched an 8-0 lead in the first quarter, and then failed to score as Converse pulled up to an 8-7 count at the end of the half.

The well balanced Panther scoring attack began functioning in the final half to sew up the game.

FAN BREEZES

By Ernest Savage

Back to the good old days—

—o—

And everyone had a peach of a time. That is the report coming out of Winchester as the persons who went down to the Scott county seat look back over their last week-end.

—o—

Winchester went to a little trouble to entertain the guests who came from afar to see this year's tournament, and there is more than one person who wishes automobiles weren't used quite as much as they are.

—o—

White Hall, eager to send a big delegation to the final round of the tournament, sent one via railroad. The team and fans left home Saturday morning and didn't get back until before sun-up Sunday morning. But they saw their team win a championship, they attended a dance, they had a lot of fun, and the excursion wound up with the typical school essay ending.

"And everyone went to bed tired and happy."

—o—

Those train excursions to big athletic events live a long time in the minds of those persons who take them, probably longer than most of the automobile journeys.

—o—

We're a little bit too young to do much reminiscing, but whenever we hear about train excursions we think of two—one that happened, and the other that didn't. The one that happened was an excursion to Bloomington for the Illinois-Wesleyan football game, at least ten years ago, and now Roy Reese, one of W. T. Harmon's "225 pound cupies" stoked the boiler on the return trip after the Blueboys dropped the game by one point, 7-6. There was dancing in the baggage car and all sorts of entertainment.

—o—

The one that didn't happen was the year Illinois College had another big delegation already to go to Millikin to a football game, and Millikin called it off because the football field was under water.

—o—

It's just as well to tell the present high school generation something about those old train excursions, because they probably will not hear much about them otherwise. They went out along with the hay-rack ride and the bob sled parties.

—o—

Some enterprising high school, however, might take advantage of the snow forecast for this week and offer an oyster stew to patrons who come in bob-sleds.

—o—

That recalls another interesting chapter—our high school basketball playing days when the old home town was snow-bound and had a basketball date in a neighboring city 12 miles away, for one of those old rival meetings. Our team climbed in a bob sled, filled with straw and soapstones, and made the trip.

—o—

And there wasn't a vacant seat in the gymnasium that night, either, despite snow three and four feet deep. And was that fun! (Our team got licked a couple points, but that didn't spoil the occasion much.)

—o—

The big trouble now as we see it would be to find the horses to pull the bob-sleds.

—o—

Bruno Bierman, the White Hall coach, has a lot of praise for the way officials at Winchester handled the tournament. He regretted the bad weather which kept down the crowd, but praised Gene Mellon and his staff of assistants highly for the smoothness that the games went off, and the feeling of good sportsmanship that prevailed right up to the last whistle.

Final Quarter Sees Most of Scoring Work

Shadows Work Out In Front And Stay There Through Rally

Working themselves up to a fury of scoring in the final period, Murrayville high and Routt put on an excellent basketball exhibition last night on the Liberty Hall boards that resulted in one of the few victories the Shadows have chalked up over the Rockets, by a 24 to 19 score. Both teams waited until the final period before they began hitting the hoop in a scoring race.

Meeting the Rockets at their own game, the Shadows were content to stab for openings in the tight Routt defense through the first half, without taking any unnecessary chances. They changed their tactics slightly in the third quarter to take a few more chances, and then, with a lead in their favor, they handed shot for shot against the Rockets in a thrilling final quarter.

Routt seconds retrieved some of the glory of the evening when they pasted the Murrayville seconds with a 40 to 7 set-back.

Pushing themselves out in front in a well played opening quarter, during which neither team took any chances, Murrayville led 3 to 2. They added another point to their margin in a fast second quarter which did not result in much scoring but did bring a lot of good floor play, ending the half with an 8-6 margin.

A bit worried by their failure to score points more rapidly, Murrayville calmly pot shot a couple baskets to get a 14 to 8 margin at the end of the third quarter.

Then Routt went to work with one of their characteristic fourth quarter finishes, changing from a slow to a fast break, and tossing the ball for the hoop. Murrayville just as quickly shifted its type of play to meet this new threat, and gave back shot for shot what the Rockets turned loose.

The Routt team tonight will go to Quincy for a game with the Quincy senior high team.

Crimsons Turn Back Feitshans; Murrayville Defeats Rockets

Fast Break is Too Fast For Cyclone Five

J. H. S. Sweeps Them Aside By 39 To 23 Score With Accurate Firing

Jacksonville high's Crimsons picked up a Cyclone and dropped it with ease on the David Prince court last night their fast break whirling around the Cyclones from Feitshans high and creating a greater atmospheric disturbance to mark up a 39 to 23 victory. Feitshans young club was no match for the taller and more deceptive Crimsons, although the local club did not seem to be clicking as well as usual.

There were a few minutes at the start of the game when Feitshans' zone defense stopped the Crimsons sufficiently to make the score tight, but the Crimsons, with their usual slap-dash tactics, let the visitors have the ball, set up their own tight zone defense, and then snatched the ball for fast breaks coupled with long passes that resulted in several quick points.

Elmer Lukeman was on the receiving end of most of the long passes, and rammed in 16 points during the session to lead the Crimson scoring. Bob Hamm had a lot of tough luck, but his southpaw swinging caught the Feitshans guards off balance often enough for him to notch eight points from the field and another from the gift line. Big George Hamilton came in with six points to gratify the Crimson followers who have been wondering why the big fellow didn't toss in more points.

Harlow, a little bit of fellow, was the high gunner for the visitors, tossing in eight points, most of them from deep in the court. A clever little ball handler, Harlow was the king pin of the Feitshans attack, along with Jennings and Patrick, who each tossed in six points.

The Crimsons scored in the first half minutes of play, but Harlow tied it up and then Patrick gave the visitors the only lead they enjoyed during the game with a free throw. Moxon rebounded a shot to give J. H. S. the lead again. Hamilton dropped in two free throws, Patrick hit a free throw, and then the Crimsons began carrying the fire to their opponents.

Whipping long passes around the court, Hamm raced in for a basket, Hamilton rebounded one, Moxon collected another, Bellatti eased in a free throw and Lukeman banged in a shot to make the count 15 to 5 at the end of the first quarter. Baptist replaced Bellatti at the start of the second period, and scored from the free throw line, after Jennings counted three pints on a basket and foul, then Hamilton, Lukeman and Hamm dropped in points to lift the score to 22-8. Harlow scoring just as the gun fired to make the count 22-10 at the end of the first half.

Nor did the Crimsons let up. They kept their fast break whirling down the floor to pile up a 31 to 15 margin at the end of the third quarter with two reserves playing a large part of the period, and continued to roll in points during the final eight minutes of play.

Postpone Finals Of Alsey Tournament

Alsey, Jan. 24.—Another postponement was declared in the Alsey grade school "Tin-Cup" tournament here tonight after Bluffs surprised a tall Roodhouse team to go into the finals by an 18 to 11 score, where they will meet Alsey, winners by a two point margin, 22 to 20, over Hardin.

M. G. Moore, in charge of the tournament, declared the postponement until Monday night of next week as a result of the inclement weather. Hardin and Roodhouse will meet in the consolation game, and Alsey and Bluffs will met in the titular game.

Bluffs sprung the biggest surprise by turning back the Roodhouse team, doped as almost sure to go to the finals.

Phillies in Market For Baseball Talent

But the Price Will Have to Be Right or There Will Be No Deals

Philadelphia.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, Gerry Nugent and company of the National League Phillies will be standing behind their trading counter, open for any kind of player deals—provided they're profitable—at the big league spring meeting next month.

Two of the smartest traders in the business, the peppery catcher-manager and the genial club president will swap almost anybody on the Phils' roster, if they thing the transaction will pan out for them.

Wilson confirmed that fact today, but refused to "name names," even when asked if First Baseman Dolph Camilli and Pitcher Curt Davis were among those up for sale or barter.

He did make clear, however, that the other clubs, particularly the Giants and Chicago Cubs, will have to offer "something more than nothing" for his players.

"The Giants could have had Camilli," Jimmy explained. "They wanted him—but they wanted him for nothing.

"The same thing goes for the Cubs, if they want Curt Davis and are willing to return Chuck Klein to us."

Jimmy's words gave the first confirmation from the Phils of the oft-rumored deals involving Camilli's proposed sale to New York and the transaction involving Davis, Klein, and the Cubs.

PLAINS CALLS OFF GAME WITH VIRGINIA

Pleasant Plains, Jan. 24.—Cold weather and a steady fall of snow that began early in the afternoon forced the cancellation of the scheduled basketball game between the local five and Virginia last night.

Because of conflicting schedules, it will be impossible to arrange for the contest at a later date.

Don Ransdale of the Pisgah neighborhood was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Upset Tosses Pittsfield Out In Front For N. W. Ivy League Title

Pleasant Hill, Jan. 24—Giving the dope bucket a sharp kick, Pleasant Hill high tonight upset Winchester high's Wildcats 32 to 27 to give Pittsfield almost a sure claim to the Northwestern Illinois Valley conference basketball championship.

Pleasant Hill blasted its way into the lead at the start of the second quarter and held it most of the way to the finish, piling up a five point margin at the end of the third quarter.

Cheek led the firing for the winners with 10 points, and Jones led the Winchester scoring with 11 points.

Pleasant Hill seconds defeated Atlas in the curtain raiser 38 to 20.

I. S. D. Tigers and Ashland To Tangle in Final Battle Of Tourney; Franklin Falls

Games Tonight.
7:30 p. m.—Franklin vs. Converse.
8:30 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Ashland.

Ashland, Jan. 24.—Illinois School for the Deaf and Ashland will tangle in the final battle of the annual Ashland invitational tournament here Saturday night as the result of games played here tonight. The Tigers, with a steady finish in the last quarter, defeated Franklin 24 to 17, and Ashland won from Converse of Springfield handily 26 to 14. Franklin and Converse will meet for the consolation title in a preliminary.

Rajski led the Tiger scoring with nine points, but the well balanced Tiger team was too much for the Flashes, who bore up on even terms with them for three quarters, and then slumped when the pressure went on. The Flashes had their chances, but missed, while the Tigers tossed in points when the chances came around.

Dope points to a thrilling battle when the Tigers and Ashland hook up in the final duel, with the Tigers bearing a slight edge. They had a more difficult game with Franklin than Ashland was forced to show against Converse, but the excellently conditioned Tigers should not be materially handicapped.

Off in front against the Franklin lads, the Tigers had to battle them shot for shot through the second and third quarters before pulling the game out of the fire. Their ever moving attack, however, twisted up the Franklin defense and created the openings through which players moved for shots, sometimes from rather deep in the court, and other times from under the hoop.

The Tigers led 7-5 at the end of the first quarter, but Franklin tied the count at 12 all at the end of the first half. The Tigers got two points to one for Franklin in a hard fought third period, and then went off in front steadily during the final quarter.

Converse tossed a little fear into Ashland during the second quarter of their game, but the Panthers were quick to shake it off and take a lead to which they continued to add during the final period. Ashland snatched an 8-0 lead in the first quarter, and then failed to score as Converse pulled up to an 8-7 count at the end of the half.

The well balanced Panther scoring attack began functioning in the final half to sew up the game.

FAN BREEZES

By Ernest Savage

Back to the good old days—

—o—

And everyone had a peach of a time. That is the report coming out of Winchester as the persons who went down to the Scott county seat look back over their last week-end.

—o—

Winchester went to a little trouble to entertain the guests who came from afar to see this year's tournament, and there is more than one person who wishes automobiles weren't used quite as much as they are.

—o—

White Hall, eager to send a big delegation to the final round of the tournament, sent one via railroad. The team and fans left home Saturday morning and didn't get back until before sun-up Sunday morning. But they saw their team win a championship, they attended a dance, they had a lot of fun, and the excursion wound up with the typical school essay ending.

"And everyone went to bed tired and happy."

—o—

Those train excursions to big athletic events live a long time in the minds of those persons who take them, probably longer than most of the automobile journeys.

—o—

We're a little bit too young to do much reminiscing, but whenever we hear about train excursions we think of two—one that happened, and the other that didn't. The one that happened was an excursion to Bloomington for the Illinois-Wesleyan football game, at least ten years ago, and now Roy Reese, one of W. T. Harmon's "225 pound cupies" stoked the boiler on the return trip after the Blueboys dropped the game by one point, 7-6. There was dancing in the baggage car and all sorts of entertainment.

—o—

The one that didn't happen was the year Illinois College had another big delegation already to go to Millikin to a football game, and Millikin called it off because the football field was under water.

—o—

It's just as well to tell the present high school generation something about those old train excursions, because they probably will not hear much about them otherwise. They went out along with the hay-rack ride and the bob sled parties.

—o—

Some enterprising high school, however, might take advantage of the snow forecast for this week and offer an oyster stew to patrons who come in bob-sleds.

—o—

That recalls another interesting chapter—our high school basketball playing days when the old home town was snow-bound and had a basketball date in a neighboring city 12 miles away, for one of those old rival meetings. Our team climbed in a bob sled, filled with straw and soapstones, and made the trip.

—o—

And there wasn't a vacant seat in the gymnasium that night, either, despite snow three and four feet deep. And was that fun! (Our team got licked a couple points, but that didn't spoil the occasion much.)

—o—

The big trouble now as we see it, would be to find the horses to pull the bob-sleds.

—o—

Bruno Bierman, the White Hall coach, has a lot of praise for the way officials at Winchester handled the tournament. He regretted the bad weather which kept down the crowd, but praised Gene Mellon and his staff of assistants highly for the smoothness that the games went off, and the feeling of good sportsmanship that prevailed right up to the last whistle.

Final Quarter Sees Most of Scoring Work

Shadows Work Out In Front And Stay There Through Rally

Working themselves up to a fury of scoring in the final period, Murrayville high and Routt put on an excellent basketball exhibition last night on the Liberty Hall boards that resulted in one of the few victories the Shadows have chalked up over the Rockets, by a 24 to 19 score. Both teams waited until the final period before they began hitting the hoop in a scoring race.

Meeting the Rockets at their own game, the Shadows were content to stab for openings in the tight Routt defense through the first half, without taking any unnecessary chances. They changed their tactics slightly in the third quarter to take a few more chances, and then, with a lead in their favor, they banded shot for shot against the Rockets in a thrilling final quarter.

Routt seconds retrieved some of the glory of the evening when they pasted the Murrayville seconds with a 40 to 7 set-back.

Pushing themselves out in front in a well played opening quarter, during which neither team took any chances, Murrayville led 3 to 2. They added another point to their margin in a fast second quarter which did not result in much scoring but did bring a lot of good floor play, ending the half with an 8-6 margin.

A bit worried by their failure to score points more rapidly, Murrayville calmly pot shot a couple baskets to get a 14 to 8 margin at the end of the third quarter.

Then Routt went to work with one of their characteristic fourth quarter finishes, changing from a slow to a fast break, and tossing the ball for the hoop. Murrayville just as quickly shifted its type of play to meet this new threat, and gave back shot for shot what the Rockets turned loose.

The Routt team tonight will go to Quincy for a game with the Quincy senior high team.

Jerseyville Odd Fellows Conduct Memorial Rites

Program Honors Founder Of Lodge; Other News From Jersey County

Jerseyville, Ill., Jan. 25.—The Jerseyville Lodge of Odd Fellows held a memorial service honoring Thomas Wildey, the founder and father of Odd Fellowship, at the regular meeting of the organization this week.

H. J. Gubser was the presiding officer at the service and several guests were present in addition to the members of the organization. The program opened with the singing of America by the entire assembly, followed by a prayer led by John Keehner.

The history of Thomas Wildey was given by H. J. Catt and reminiscences of the early days of the Jerseyville Lodge were given by Thomas Ford. Harry Campion gave a piano solo and a talk on Odd Fellowship was given by Mr. Gubser. The History of a Memorial was given by Kingsley Wentge and the program was concluded with the singing of Blest Be the Tie That Binds.

At the organization meeting of the board of directors of the Jersey County Farm Supply Company, Edward Highfill was chosen to again head the group as its president, a position he occupied during the past year.

The other officers were also reelected to their posts and are as follows: Charles Rue, vice president; and Leslie Landon, secretary-treasurer.

The other members of the board of directors include: George W. Weineke, Theodore Biermann, Ray Searls and Richard H. Voorhees.

Members of the Baraca Class of the Baptist church held their annual business meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. W. A. Steinkraus, pastor of the church. Twenty members of the class were in attendance.

Russell M. Warner was elected president of the organization to succeed Charles Schlansker who served in that position during the last year; C. D. Updike was chosen vice president, Henry J. Catt, secretary-treasurer, and Rev. W. A. Steinkraus, teacher.

Following the business meeting a program was given as follows: Violin solo, Robert Steinkraus; cornet solo, George Embley, accompanied by his sister, Grace Embley; vocal selections, Eugene Everts, and an address, "Looking for a Man," by Rev. Milo Moore, pastor of the Kane Baptist church.

Installation ceremonies for the recently elected and appointive officers of the Ruby Rebekah Lodge of this city were held Tuesday evening in their hall. The retiring Noble Grand of the group is Miss Edith Catt who was succeeded in office by Mrs. H. J. Gubser.

The officers installed Tuesday for 1936 were: Mrs. H. J. Gubser, Noble Grand; Mrs. Fred Peter, Vice Grand; Miss Golda Cooper, Chaplain; Mrs. Grant Thompson, Financial Secretary; Miss Elizabeth Bloomer, Treasurer; Mrs. Bert Bell, Warden; Miss Erma Worthey, Conductor; Miss Alyda Zeiser, Musician; Miss Josephine Tuetkin, Right Supporter to Noble Grand; Miss Irene Barnes, Left Supporter to Noble Grand; Miss Virginia Woodruff, Right Supporter to Vice Grand; Mrs. Bertha Hall, Left Supporter to Vice Noble Grand; Mrs. Sue Erwin, Inside Guard; Miss Roberta Shaw, Outside Guard.

Mrs. Allard Passes Away at Virginia

Death Thursday Night Follows Extended Illness; Plan Services Sunday

Virginia—Mrs. Elizabeth Bernice Allard passed away Thursday night at her home here after an extended illness. She was the widow of Henry C. Allard, who preceded her in death several years ago.

Mrs. Allard was born at Augusta, Ill., May 5, 1869, a daughter of C. H. Sexton and Carrie Wiliger Sexton.

Surviving are two children, Cad Allard, Oklahoma; and Joyce Allard at home. Another son, Shelby Allard, was killed in an automobile accident several years ago.

Services for Mrs. Allard will be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Virginia M. E. church, Rev. J. W. Armstrong officiating. Interment will be made in Walnut Ridge cemetery.

PAULINE KENNEDY'S ANKLE BADLY HURT

Miss Pauline Kennedy, a Sophomore at MacMurray College, fell this week on the ice and severely injured one of her ankles.

Miss Kennedy was preparing to enter a car with her psychology instructor, Dr. Stewart, when she slipped and fell to the pavement. Dr. G. O. Webster was called and found the ligaments badly torn.

Miss Kennedy was removed to her home at Roodhouse where several weeks will be required for the injury to heal.

Farmers Guests at Roodhouse Dinner

Rotarians Entertain Dirt and Book Farmers at Meet This Week

Roodhouse—The Rotary club was exceptionally interesting in many ways in connection with the program presented. The membership was 100% in attendance. It was Farmers' Day. Each member invited a farmer to be his guest. The most of them accepted the invitation. Sixteen farmers, representing the so-called "dirt" farmer and the "book" farmer. Two out of town visitors were present—C. V. Arnold of Hillview, manager of the Hartwell ranch and Emil Schram of Washington, D. C., chief of drainage, levee and irrigation division of the R.F.C. and president of the E.F.H. Authority.

The program was in charge of the president of the club, Atty. R. B. Johnson substituting for Merle Mackey. Rev. A. B. Van Scholck of Carrollton was the speaker of the day and discussed in a very interesting and instructive way the up-to-date co-operative project that is attracting so much attention among the people of all nations.

Lee Smith will be in charge of the program next week.

Methodist Episcopal Church—Milton Wilson, pastor. January 26 is National Child Labor Sunday. Our services will be in keeping with the day. Special features for Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and for Epworth League at 6:15. Theme for morning sermon at 10:46 o'clock, "The Power of Words." The Junior Choral club will sing. At 7:30 p. m., "The Sign of the Times" will be the subject of discourse. A happy group of young folks will sing.

Last Sunday was one of our best all the way through. The classes in Sunday school receiving special recognition for attendance: Mrs. Thelma Ford, 100%; Miss Helen Adams, 90%; James Orr, Jr., and Mrs. Harvey Hodge tied for third place with 78%. The installation was remarkably fine. A good response.

The total attendance for all gathering for the week, 255. Comparatively speaking, record rather low. The report will be better next week. Our minimum for Sunday school attendance is set at 151. Let us make it.

Junior Chorus met for practice Tuesday evening. The prayer meeting was held at 7:30 Wednesday evening at 7:30. Hebrews 11 was the chapter used. For next week we shall use the familiar Twenty-third Psalm. Official board meeting was held Wednesday night at 8:00.

The new Sunday school song will be used for the first time next Sunday morning.

The pastor will preach for the Manchester Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday morning and return to Roodhouse in time for the 10:45 worship. The Rev. A. E. Linfield, who is pastor of Manchester in connection with his White Hall pastorate, is still in quarantine because of scarlet fever.

Huey's Choice to Be Governor

Emphatic notice to the nation that the Huey Long machine still rules in Louisiana was given in the Democratic primary vote which decided that this family will be the next occupants of the governor's mansion in Baton Rouge. Richard W. Leche, shown with Mrs. Leche and their 6-year-old son, Richard, Jr., was nominated for governor by a sweeping majority over the "Home Rule" candidate, with nomination equivalent to election. Leche is a judge of the state appellate court and was Huey Long's choice for governor.

SULLIVAN FUNERAL TO BE THIS MORNING

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Kelly Sullivan, wife of Fire Chief Frank Sullivan, will be held this morning at nine o'clock at the Church of Our Saviour. Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery.

The remains are now at the residence of the decedent's mother, Mrs. Mary Kelly, 250 East Dunlap street.

Farmers No Longer Independent; Must Operate Together

Farm Adviser Coolidge in Rotary Address Traces Farm Organizations

"The Farm Bureau Federation is working to make the farm a better place to live," declared William P. Coolidge, Morgan county farm adviser, in an address to members of the Jacksonville Rotary club yesterday. He was introduced by Dr. S. N. Clark, chairman of the January program committee.

Mr. Coolidge said that at one time the farmer probably could be called independent. That was when he was his own producer and consumer. But farming is different today, he declared.

"The farmer used to drive his livestock to market and sell it himself," Mr. Coolidge said. "Today there is the commission man to handle the livestock for the farmer. The farmer does not set the price on his commodity, he sells for the best price he can obtain."

Mr. Coolidge told the Rotarians some of the duties of the farm adviser. He is paid from funds provided by the federal government. These funds are matched by the local Farm Bureau for the purpose of establishing an office and clerical help and paying transportation costs.

The farm adviser, Mr. Coolidge said, has nothing to do with the commercial activities of the bureau.

Mr. Coolidge stated that there are 2200 farms in Morgan county. There are 1100 members of the Farm Bureau in this county, he said.

Some of the services furnished by the Farm Bureau, he said, are soil improvement and conservation, crop improvement, crop control program, legumes, entomology, and Four-H club work. In addition, there are livestock feeding and management, livestock sanitation, dairy herd improvement, rural youth organization, dairy feeding, poultry management, farm management.

E. E. Crabtree called attention to the President's Ball to be held here Jan. 30, and Dr. Carl E. Black invited the members to attend the Morgan County Historical society meeting held last evening.

Guests of the club yesterday were Robert Conn, Springfield, former district governor of Rotary; J. S. Warren, Chicago; Donald Weaver and William Usullis, and Dr. T. J. Jasinski, camp surgeon at the local CCC camp.

RADIO AND CIGARETS STOLEN FROM TAVERN

A table model Philco radio and seven or eight cartons of cigarets were stolen Thursday night from the Wall tavern at the northwest corner of the square. The burglary was discovered early yesterday morning, and is being investigated by police.

A north window was forced open by the burglar, who then crawled through a transom to get into the main part of the establishment.

P. G. Kinnett was a business visitor in the city yesterday from Alexander.

Jerseyville Odd Fellows Conduct Memorial Rites

Program Honors Founder Of Lodge; Other News From Jersey County

Jerseyville, Ill., Jan. 25.—The Jerseyville Lodge of Odd Fellows held a memorial service honoring Thomas Wildey, the founder and father of Odd Fellowship, at the regular meeting of the organization this week.

H. J. Gubser was the presiding officer at the service and several guests were present in addition to the members of the organization. The program opened with the singing of America by the entire assembly, followed by a prayer led by John Keehner.

The history of Thomas Wildey was given by H. J. Catt and reminisences of the early days of the Jerseyville Lodge were given by Thomas Ford. Harry Campion gave a piano solo and a talk on Odd Fellowship was given by Mr. Gubser. The History of a Memorial was given by Kingsley Wentge and the program was concluded with the singing of Blest Be the Tie That Binds.

At the organization meeting of the board of directors of the Jersey County Farm Supply Company, Edward Highfill was chosen to again head the group as its president, a position he occupied during the past year.

The other officers were also re-elected to their posts and are as follows: Charles Rue, vice president; and Leslie Landon, secretary-treasurer.

The other members of the board of directors include: George W. Weineke, Theodore Biermann, Ray Searls and Richard H. Voorhees.

Members of the Baracca Class of the Baptist church held their annual business meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. W. A. Steinkraus, pastor of the church. Twenty members of the class were in attendance.

Russell M. Warner was elected president of the organization to succeed Charles Schlansker who served in that position during the last year; C. D. Updike was chosen vice president, Henry J. Catt, secretary-treasurer, and Rev. W. A. Steinkraus, teacher.

Following the business meeting a program was given as follows: Violin solo, Robert Steinkraus; cornet solo, George Embley, accompanied by his sister, Grace Embley; vocal selections, Eugene Everts, and an address, "Looking for a Man," by Rev. Milo Moore, pastor of the Kane Baptist church.

Installation ceremonies for the recently elected and appointive officers of the Ruby Rebekah Lodge of this city were held Tuesday evening in their hall. The retiring Noble Grand of the group is Miss Edith Catt who was succeeded in office by Mrs. H. J. Gubser.

The officers installed Tuesday for 1936 were: Mrs. H. J. Gubser, Noble Grand; Mrs. Fred Peter, Vice Grand; Miss Golda Cooper, Chaplain; Mrs. Grant Thompson, Financial Secretary; Miss Elizabeth Bloomer, Treasurer; Mrs. Bert Bell, Warden; Miss Erma Worthey, Conductor; Miss Alyda Zeiser, Musician; Miss Josephine Tuetkin, Right Supporter to Noble Grand; Miss Irene Barnes, Left Supporter to Noble Grand; Miss Virginia Woodruff, Right Supporter to Vice Grand; Mrs. Bertha Hall, Left Supporter to Vice Noble Grand; Mrs. Sue Erwin, Inside Guard; Miss Roberta Shaw, Outside Guard.

The installing officials were; Mrs. H. J. Catt, Deputy President; Mrs. Harry Cope, Deputy Marshall; Miss Daisy Barry, Deputy Chaplain; Mrs. Grace Groppel, Deputy Warden; Mrs. Bertha Hall, Deputy Outside Guardian; Miss Elizabeth Fritz, Deputy Inside Guardian.

During the ceremonies vocal numbers were sung by Mrs. Grant Thompson and Elizabeth Bloomer. The Escorts were Miss Virginia Woodruff, Miss Alyda Zeiser, Miss Roberta Shaw and Miss Golda Cooper and the marches were led by little Miss Donna Jean Peter.

Mrs. Allard was born at Augusta, Ill., May 5, 1869, a daughter of C. H. Sexton and Carrie Wiliger Sexton.

Surviving are two children, Cad Allard, Oklahoma; and Joyce Allard at home. Another son, Shelby Allard, was killed in an automobile accident several years ago.

Services for Mrs. Allard will be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Virginia M. E. church, Rev. J. W. Armstrong officiating. Interment will be made in Walnut Ridge cemetery.

PAULINE KENNEDY'S ANKLE BADLY HURT

Miss Pauline Kennedy, a Sophomore at MacMurray College, fell this week on the ice and severely injured one of her ankles.

Miss Kennedy was preparing to enter a car with her psychology instructor, Dr. Stewart, when she slipped and fell to the pavement. Dr. G. O. Webster was called and found the ligaments badly torn.

Miss Kennedy was removed to her home at Roodhouse where several weeks will be required for the injury to heal.

Fire Destroys Farm Home; Drives Family Into Zero Weather

Jersey County Farmer Helps His Family Escape from Blazing House

Jerseyville.—The country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson was destroyed by fire during the blizzard of Wednesday night.

Johnson, his wife, and two children had retired for the night, but had not gone to sleep, when the fire broke out. Johnson discovered fire in the ceiling of one of the rooms where it had burned through and endeavored to put it out with a bucket of water.

He then left the house to get another bucket of water and saw that the fire had burned through some of the outer weather boarding. The blaze spread rapidly and Johnson returned to the inside of the dwelling and aided the members of his family to escape. One of the children, Ralph, had been ill for the past two weeks of scarlet fever and during that time had been confined to his bed.

During the excitement of the fire the boy had become panic stricken and fled into the night. His father caught him some distance from the house and bundled him into a blanket.

So rapidly did the flames spread, fanned by the sub-zero winds, that Johnson was unable to save any of the contents of the building.

Johnson was in Jerseyville Thursday afternoon and stated that the fire started in the ceiling opposite a flue. No insurance was carried on the contents of the dwelling. Johnson and his family are now at the home of relatives.

Farmers reported the loss of poultry during the severe cold of Wednesday night. Hens roosting in less sheltered places in buildings and in the open were found frozen Thursday morning. Guineas roosting in trees were also found dead in many instances.

Thermometers in many localities of Jersey county reached a point as low as 23 below zero at 11:30 p.m., which apparently marked the crest of the cold wave. The same thermometers registered 14 and 15 below zero at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. With the slight moderation of temperature toward the morning hours, a light, fine snow fell over the locality to the depth of nearly an inch.

TRUCK DAMAGED

A truck driven by Grant Ferguson of this city was damaged in a collision with an automobile driven by William Sitton of Waverly here yesterday. The accident occurred at the intersection of West State street and South West street.

SEMESTER EXAMS AT I. C. BEGIN FRIDAY AND CONTINUE WEEK

Final examinations at the end of the first semester began yesterday at Illinois College and will continue until next Friday. A new orientation course for incoming students is being planned for next year, according to announcement made by Dean R. H. Lacey and will be listed in the catalog now being prepared.

The course will consist of an outline of the sciences, giving the student a brief course in Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Geology and Astronomy. It will be a lecture course with no laboratory, and will be taught by several different professors on the campus.

Since there will be no laboratory work in connection with the course, it is planned to use visual instruction as an aid to study. Slides will be used, and other means of visual instruction may be provided.

Cold Reduces H.S. Attendance by 200

Zero Weather Interferes with Semester Exams; Plan More Tests

Thursday it was cold. Thursday was the last day of final exams at Jacksonville High school. And Thursday so many students were "weather bound" that, yesterday, the teachers were busy counting up the number of grades they will have to withhold because of tests missed.

An estimate from the official attendance checker upper is that 200 boys and girls were absent on account of the intense frigidity of the atmosphere. A large number of the students have to come in every day from the rural districts. And Thursday most of the automobiles used for this purpose refused to do any more than utter a disgusted "ur-r-r-r." This, of course, is the reason for a great many of the absences.

Then, too, those who are forced to walk a long distance, many of them, did not venture out for fear of freezing a nose or an ear. It was noticed that those who did walk sported ear muffs of solid red, red and yellow, red, yellow and green, or other conglomerations of brilliancy found elsewhere only in a good vegetable soup.

But those 200 odd pupils need not think that they are getting out of a semester final exam. They will find a nice make-up test waiting when they return next week.

Treasury is Making Plans to Pay Bonus In New Baby Bonds

Arrangements Being Made on "When, As, and If" Basis in Departments

Washington—(AP)—The treasury already is making tentative preparations to handle the tremendous job of paying off the bonus to 3,500,000 World War veterans.

The arrangements, it was indicated today, are being made on a "when, as and if" basis. While officials were loath to comment, informed sources said they wished to be prepared for all eventualities.

President Roosevelt continued to give no inkling as to whether he would sign or veto the $2,491,000,000 bill passed by Congress, but Democratic legislative leaders continued to predict that it would be enacted anyway.

Treasury officials are known to have held conferences with disbursing officers. These include officials of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the commissioner of accounts and deposits, the commissioner of the public debt and the United States treasurer.

When and if the bill becomes law every effort to expedite payment and accommodate veterans who desire cash will be made, officials said. The bill calls for immediate payment in $50 bonds, which can be cashed beginning next June 15.

One of the first problems will be creation of new designs for the bonds. While no official action is being taken on this, it is understood several designs are being drawn informally for submission to officials.

It is estimated that approximately 38,000,000 bonds would be necessary to pay in full; a printing task that would mean night and day shifts at the Bureau of engraving.

TAMALE VENDOR GETS RUDE AWAKENING

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—Mack Bowman, a tamale vendor, lighted a burner to heat his wares and went to sleep. The burner exploded, blasting the front door of his home from its hinges. Firemen found Bowman lying near his tamale wagon and called an ambulance.

Bowman sat up. "I'm a pretty heavy sleeper," he yawned. "What happened?"

Middle West Sought By Both Parties to Assure 1936 Success

Democratic Strife Develops Bitterness in Some of Central States

Chicago—(AP)—A political survey of the corn belt states, the "bread basket of the nation," presaged a lively curtain raiser for the 1936 campaign and coined a new term today—the "vote basket of the nation."

Home of agricultural unrest, scene of historic defections from the major parties, middle west support long has been regarded essential to national party success and in 1936 it seems to have taken on even a more important aspect.

On the Democratic side, activity centered on efforts to consolidate and hold support for the New Deal and the Roosevelt administration. Intra-party strife, in Illinois amounting to undisguised bitterness, caused speculation as to whether the scars would heal after the April primary settled state issues, and the national campaign swung into stride.

Republican activity in behalf of presidential possibilities resulted in definite alignments which could not be forecast.

Who would go to market next November with the "vote basket" swinging from his arm received serious attention.

Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan commanded attention. Democratic strife within the state has developed explosive situation.

Fire Destroys Farm Home; Drives Family Into Zero Weather

Jersey County Farmer Helps His Family Escape from Blazing House

Jerseyville.—The country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson was destroyed by fire during the blizzard of Wednesday night.

Johnson, his wife, and two children had retired for the night, but had not gone to sleep, when the fire broke out. Johnson discovered fire in the ceiling of one of the rooms where it had burned through and endeavored to put it out with a bucket of water.

He then left the house to get another bucket of water and saw that the fire had burned through some of the outer weather boarding. The blaze spread rapidly and Johnson returned to the inside of the dwelling and aided the members of his family to escape. One of the children, Ralph, had been ill for the past two weeks of scarlet fever and during that time had been confined to his bed.

During the excitement of the fire the boy had become panic stricken and fled into the night. His father caught him some distance from the house and bundled him into a blanket.

So rapidly did the flames spread, fanned by the sub-zero winds, that Johnson was unable to save any of the contents of the building.

Johnson was in Jerseyville Thursday afternoon and stated that the fire started in the ceiling opposite a flue. No insurance was carried on the contents of the dwelling. Johnson and his family are now at the home of relatives.

Farmers reported the loss of poultry during the severe cold of Wednesday night. Hens roosting in less sheltered places in buildings and in the open were found frozen Thursday morning. Guineas roosting in trees were also found dead in many instances.

Thermometers in many localities of Jersey county reached a point as low as 23 below zero at 11:30 p.m., which apparently marked the crest of the cold wave. The same thermometers registered 14 and 15 below zero at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. With the slight moderation of temperature toward the morning hours, a light, fine snow fell over the locality to the depth of nearly an inch.

TRUCK DAMAGED

A truck driven by Grant Ferguson of this city was damaged in a collision with an automobile driven by William Sitton of Waverly here yesterday. The accident occurred at the intersection of West State street and South West street.

SEMESTER EXAMS AT I. C. BEGIN FRIDAY AND CONTINUE WEEK

Final examinations at the end of the first semester began yesterday at Illinois College and will continue until next Friday. A new orientation course for incoming students is being planned for next year, according to announcement made by Dean R. H. Lacey and will be listed in the catalog now being prepared.

The course will consist of an outline of the sciences, giving the student a brief course in Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Geology and Astronomy. It will be a lecture course with no laboratory, and will be taught by several different professors on the campus.

Since there will be no laboratory work in connection with the course, it is planned to use visual instruction as an aid to study. Slides will be used, and other means of visual instruction may be provided.

B. H. Schnelten Of Greene County Dies Early Friday

Well Known Farmer Passes Away; Thomas B. Close Called by Death

Carrollton—Bernard H. Schnelten aged 60 years, two months and 23 days, died at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning at his home west of this city. He was a prosperous, successful and popular farmer in this community. His illness was of short duration; he became ill about 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Decedent was the son of Bernard and Anna Runker Nelson, who preceded him in death many years ago. One sister, Mrs. Richard Postelwait, is also deceased, and a brother, Herman, died during the World War. He leaves surviving three brothers, George, John and Joseph, all of the Carrollton community.

The remains were taken to the Mehl and Son undertaking establishment and are now at the residence.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning from St. John's Catholic church, in charge of Rev. Fr. Thomas Costello, with interment in St. John's cemetery.

Close

Thomas B. Close died at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night at his home one mile east of Kane. He was born in Jersey county Oct. 10, 1869, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Close.

He was married to Miss Lulu Guilander, who preceded him in death in 1934. He is survived by two sons, Orville of Kane, and Leslie in the state of Washington. He was a prosperous farmer and resided for 23 years on the place where he died.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced later.

LEAGUE MEMBERS GET NEWS OF SMITH TALK

Cold Reduces H.S. Attendance by 200

Zero Weather Interferes with Semester Exams; Plan More Tests

Thursday it was cold. Thursday was the last day of final exams at Jacksonville High school. And Thursday so many students were "weather bound" that, yesterday, the teachers were busy counting up the number of grades they will have to withhold because of tests missed.

An estimate from the official attendance checker upper is that 200 boys and girls were absent on account of the intense frigidity of the atmosphere. A large number of the students have to come in every day from the rural districts. And Thursday most of the automobiles used for this purpose refused to do any more than utter a disgusted "ur-r-r-r." This, of course, is the reason for a great many of the absences.

Then, too, those who are forced to walk a long distance, many of them, did not venture out for fear of freezing a nose or an ear. It was noticed that those who did walk sported ear muffs of solid red, red and yellow, red, yellow and green, or other conglomerations of brilliancy found elsewhere only in a good vegetable soup.

But those 200 odd pupils need not think that they are getting out of a semester final exam. They will find a nice make-up test waiting when they return next week.

Treasury is Making Plans to Pay Bonus In New Baby Bonds

Arrangements Being Made on "When, As, and If" Basis in Departments

Washington—(AP)—The treasury already is making tentative preparations to handle the tremendous job of paying off the bonus to 3,500,000 World War veterans.

The arrangements, it was indicated today, are being made on a "when as and if" basis. While officials were loath to comment, informed sources said they wished to be prepared for all eventualities.

President Roosevelt continued to give no inkling as to whether he would sign or veto the $2,491,000,000 bill passed by Congress, but Democratic legislative leaders continued to predict that it would be enacted anyway.

Treasury officials are known to have held conferences with disbursing officers. These include officials of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the commissioner of accounts and deposits, the commissioner of the public debt and the United States treasurer.

When and if the bill becomes law every effort to expedite payment and accommodate veterans who desire cash will be made, officials said. The bill calls for immediate payment in $50 bonds, which can be cashed beginning next June 15.

One of the first problems will be creation of new designs for the bonds. While no official action is being taken on this, it is understood several designs are being drawn informally for submission to officials.

It is estimated that approximately 38,000,000 bonds would be necessary to pay in full; a printing task that would mean night and day shifts at the Bureau of engraving.

TAMALE VENDOR GETS RUDE AWAKENING

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—Mack Bowman, a tamale vendor, lighted a burner to heat his wares and went to sleep. The burner exploded, blasting the front door of his home from its hinges. Firemen found Bowman lying near his tamale wagon and called an ambulance.

Bowman sat up. "I'm a pretty heavy sleeper," he yawned. "What happened?"

Middle West Sought By Both Parties to Assure 1936 Success

Democratic Strife Develops Bitterness in Some of Central States

Chicago—(AP)—A political survey of the corn belt states, the "bread basket of the nation," presaged a lively curtain raiser for the 1936 campaign and coined a new term today—the "vote basket of the nation."

Home of agricultural unrest, scene of historic defections from the major parties, middle west support long has been regarded essential to national party success and in 1936 it seems to have taken on even a more important aspect.

On the Democratic side, activity centered on efforts to consolidate and hold support for the New Deal and the Roosevelt administration. Intra-party strife, in Illinois amounting to undisguised bitterness, caused speculation as to whether the scars would heal after the April primary settled state issues, and the national campaign swung into stride.

Republican activity in behalf of presidential possibilities resulted in definite alignments which could not be forecast.

Who would go to market next November with the "vote basket" swinging from his arm received serious attention.

Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan commanded attention. Democratic strife within the state has developed explosive situation.

After every other means had failed.
You remember, too, how he Presented his bill and the Dreadful toll he exacted when
He found they couldn't pay . . . .

In some respects a Daily
Journal and Courier
Want Ad is like the Pied Piper . . .
It will rid your home of
The old radio, old sofa, old beds
And other unwantables when ever other
Means would fail . . . .
But there's one exception—THIS
Piper pays his own bill!
For the trifling cost of a
Daily Journal and Courier Want Ad

Cold Weather Has Strengthened Mart

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Cold weather scarcity of hogs and stimulated meat demand continued to strengthen the hog market today and the bulk of the small run cleared at strong to 25 cents higher prices. The top got up to $10.70 highest in more than three months.

At the close, however, heavy butchers were steady to 10 cents lower Lightweights had cleared early mostly 10 to 15 cent up with spots showing the full advance.

The trade had only 7,000 fresh hogs because of cold weather. The steady advance of hog prices this week has gone hand in hand with starvation supplies and higher wholesale pork prices. Fresh pork has gained $2 to $3 per hundredweight, top loins selling today at $20, or only $2.50 below the level quoted three weeks ago.

Slight expansion of cattle supplies and prospects of a return to normal weather soon gave the cattle trade a weak tone and prices were generally easy to 25 cents lower. Best steers sold at $11 and many were taken off the market.

Stock Traders Are Confused

By Frank MacMillen
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Foreign exchanges furnished the principal inflationary excitement in today's financial markets. The British pound jumped above the $5 mark for the first time since the fall of 1934. The French franc and other gold currencies exhibited equal strength. All funds, however, receded from their best levels in late transactions.

Securities and commodities traders apparently were highly confused by conflicting rumors regarding the government's monetary intentions.

Bankers as well as Washington authorities scouted reports from abroad that dollar devaluations and silver revaluation were being considered. Appointment of the new Sarraut cabinet may have aided the franc because of the belief the incoming ministry will adhere to the gold standard.

The presidential veto of the bonus, and the subsequent overriding of the veto by the house, created no great stir in speculative circles. The senate, in recess, is expected to act on the veto next Monday.

The stock market turnover of 2,557,932 shares was some 400,000 under yesterday's total. The Associated Press average of 60 selected issues registered a decline of .3 of a point to 58.

Chicago Livestock

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Hogs 7,000 including 2,300 direct; heavy butchers closing steady to 10 lower, lightweights cleared early, mostly 10-15, spots 25 higher; top 10.70; bulk 170-250 lbs. 10.35-60; 260-350 lbs. 9.85-10.45; good to choice pigs 10.25-35; most sows 9.00-50; shippers 2,000; estimated holdover 1,000.

Cattle 4,000; calves 500; fed steers yearlings and heifers slow in face of expanded run today and prospects of increased supplies next week, general trade weak to 25 lower; best steers here 1.00; bulk 7.50-9.50; yearling heifers 8.65; best held above 9.00 but later taken off market; cows about steady on forced market due to light supplies, general undertone, however, weak; bulls and vealers steady; top sausage bulls 6.50; and extreme high on vealers 13.00; stockers and feeders nominal.

Sheep 15,000; closing mostly 25 lower on all slaughter classes; moderately active clearance at decline; bulk good to choice native and fed western lambs 10.25-50; top 10.60 paid sparingly for choice handy and medium weights; yearlings 9.00-50; native ewes 4.50-5.00 mostly; no strictly choice lightweight western ewes here.

Wheat Values Are Somewhat Lower

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Indications that Europeans are in no hurry to buy, and are relying on likelihood of big North American supplies, eased wheat prices down somewhat today.

Only 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported the past 24 hours as having been sold for shipment overseas. Such evidence that European purchases continued virtually on a hand-to-mouth basis was given special point in connection with talk heard that large crops of spring wheat, should they follow an abundant yield of winter wheat, would lift the 1936 output of wheat on this continent to a total of about 1,200,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ lower, May $1.00¾-1.01, corn ⅛ off to ¼ up, May 60¾, oats ⅛ advance, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Notwithstanding jumps of sterling to the highest level reached since 1934, wheat prices at no time achieved more than brief minor fractional gains. Although ordinarily the market effect of soaring of sterling would be a stimulus to brisk upturns of wheat, purchase orders dwindled quickly in this instance, and throughout most of the day prices ranged well below yesterday's close. The chief reason was that the Winnipeg market moved hardly at all, and that Chicago advances out of proportion to Winnipeg would mean enlarged imports of Canadian wheat into the United States.

Cold Weather Has Strengthened Mart

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Cold weather scarcity of hogs and stimulated meat demand continued to strengthen the hog market today and the bulk of the small run cleared at strong to 25 cents higher prices. The top got up to $10.70 highest in more than three months.

At the close, however, heavy butchers were steady to 10 cents lower Lightweights had cleared early mostly 10 to 15 cent up with spots showing the full advance.

The trade had only 7,000 fresh hogs because of cold weather. The steady advance of hog prices this week has gone hand in hand with starvation supplies and higher wholesale pork prices. Fresh pork has gained $2 to $3 per hundredweight, top loins selling today at $20, or only $2.50 below the level quoted three weeks ago.

Slight expansion of cattle supplies and prospects of a return to normal weather soon gave the cattle trade a weak tone and prices were generally easy to 25 cents lower. Best steers sold at $11 and many were taken off the market.

Stock Traders Are Confused

By Frank MacMillen
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Foreign exchanges furnished the principal inflationary excitement in today's financial markets. The British pound jumped above the $5 mark for the first time since the fall of 1934. The French franc and other gold currencies exhibited equal strength. All funds, however, receded from their best levels in late transactions.

Securities and commodities traders apparently were highly confused by conflicting rumors regarding the government's monetary intentions.

Bankers as well as Washington authorities scouted reports from abroad that dollar dexaluations and silver revaluation were being considered. Appointment of the new Sarraut cabinet may have aided the franc because of the belief the incoming ministry will adhere to the gold standard.

The presidential veto of the bonus, and the subsequent overriding of the veto by the house, created no great stir in speculative circles. The senate, in recess, is expected to act on the veto next Monday.

The stock market turnover of 2,557,932 shares was some 400,000 under yesterday's total. The Associated Press average of 60 selected issues registered a decline of .3 of a point to 58.

Chicago Livestock

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Wheat Values Are Somewhat Lower

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 24 —(AP)— Indications that Europeans are in no hurry to buy, and are relying on likelihood of big North American supplies, eased wheat prices down somewhat today.

Only 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported the past 24 hours as having been sold for shipment overseas. Such evidence that European purchases continued virtually on a hand-to-mouth basis was given special point in connection with talk heard that large crops of spring wheat, should they follow an abundant yield of winter wheat, would lift the 1936 output of wheat on this continent to a total of about 1,200,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ lower, May $1.00¼-1.01, corn ¼ off to 1 up, May 60⅜, oats ¼ advance, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Notwithstanding jumps of sterling to the highest level reached since 1934, wheat prices at no time achieved more than brief minor fractional gains. Although ordinarily the market effect of soaring of sterling would be a stimulus to brisk upturns of wheat, purchase orders dwindled quickly in this instance, and throughout most of the day prices ranged well below yesterday's close. The chief reason was that the Winnipeg market moved hardly at all, and that Chicago advances out of proportion to Winnipeg would mean enlarged imports of Canadian wheat into the United States.

Sportsmen to Talk Wild Life at Meet

Conservation to Be Theme at Decatur Meeting

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—Sportsmen and conservationists of Illinois will gather tomorrow night for a meeting to organize those who would preserve and increase the game, fish, fowl and natural resources of the state.

The meeting will bring together members of sports clubs, civic organizations, farm groups and others interested or concerned in hunting and fishing for selection of delegates to the American Wildlife Institute meeting in Washington, Feb. 3.

L. A. Colby, Chicago, who will act as chairman of the meeting, has been selected by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the institute's program, to organize Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin sportsmen prior to the Washington meeting. Colby is president-elect of the Chicago Izaak Walton League Chapter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEACHER DIES

Chicago.—(AP)—Miss Willietta McCracken, 80, a pioneer teacher of Christian Science in the midwest, died last night in her apartment in the Lake Shore Athletic club after suffering a stroke Sunday. Associated with the Seventeenth Church of Christ, Scientist, in Chicago, she also maintained a downtown office.

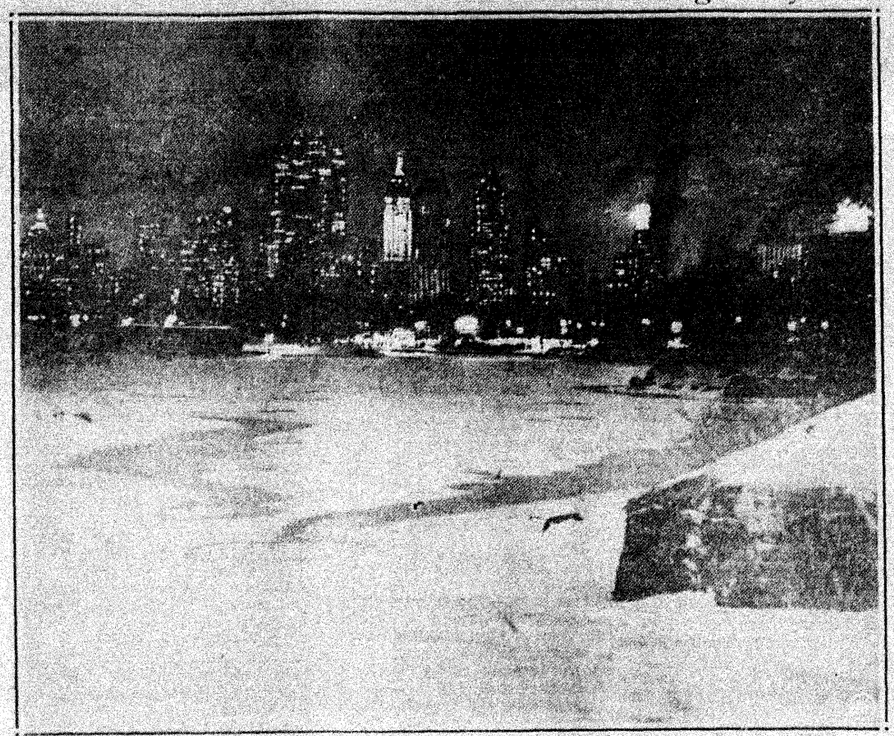

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, is requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

Record Snow Turns New York Into Gleaming Fairyland

The myriad lights of New York's skyscrapers, reflected by the season's heaviest blanket of snow, routed the night shadows in Central Park with the brilliance of a dozen moons. This was the glittering spectacle spread before the eyes of New Yorkers who looked south toward the business district across the frozen 72nd street lake.

Truck Regulation is Expected to Produce Fight in Assembly

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—A battle over truck regulation today was in prospect for next week as the old controversial issue was revived by an eleventh hour proposal to require all operators to secure a state permit by fulfilling stringent regulations.

The measure was introduced in the house by F. W. Lewis, Robinson Democrat. It was advanced to third reading, the passage stage, without debate as the members worked on other matters, but at this point it met serious opposition.

Permits would be divided into two classes. One group would be "for hire" trucks. All other trucks operated in the state, including those of farmers, would be in the second class. Because farm hauling vehicles would be included, the bill met disapproval from the agricultural bloc as well as members who have opposed truck regulation measures on all occasions.

To secure a "not for hire" permit, a truck owner would be required to submit a certificate of safety; proof of financial responsibility or an indemnity bond or insurance policy; and a sworn statement that no compensation for transportation of property with the truck was received directly or indirectly.

Exceptions to the compensation requirements would be allowed on "not for hire" permits when the indirect compensation was an exchange of labor and equipment used in the production or transportation of farm products or where farm products or supplies used in the production of crops was transported by the producer.

A truck operated for compensation would be required to pay a $5 fee for a permit and submit a certificate of safety and proof of financial responsibility, an indemnity bond or an insurance policy.

Permits for each class would have to be renewed annually.

Safety certificates would be issued only by official testing stations after a thorough examination of the truck.

Official testing stations would be designated by the secretary of state. A truck failing to pass the test would have to undergo another examination within ten days.

No truck, owned within or without the state, could operate on state highways without fulfilling these conditions. All truck operators would be limited to 12 hours labor out of 24.

Violations of any state truck regulation for which another penalty is not provided would be subject to fines of $100, $200 or $300, for the first, second or third offense. Lewis contended this provision would return jurisdiction over misdemeanors to courts of police magistrates and justices of the peace.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD of the law firm of Woodford and Brooks, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, also employed by Woodford and Brooks, is in love with Julia, but she discourages his attentions. He gives Julia a letter of introduction to HENRI LAMB, band leader, but, in the letter, asks Lamb not to give her a job. Julia discovers this and tells Peter everything is over between them.

Woodford tells Julia he is giving a party on his yacht and asks her to come along to sing for his guests. She agrees. Others on the yacht include CINTRA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH, and ROYAL NESBITT.

Julia discovers the others think she is on the yacht as Woodford's guest and also that the trip is to be for more than a week-end. When she complains to him about this he laughs her objections aside.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THE Wood Nymph reached Evergreen Island early the following afternoon, and despite Julia's feelings against Woodford and his plans, she was forced to admit that he had chosen a beautiful spot for the yacht's destination.

As nearly as she could make out, Evergreen was the largest of a veritable string of small islands tufted with foliage clear from the water's edge. But as Captain Bakely carefully navigated in and out of the slender inlets and brought the boat to the far side of Evergreen Island, Julia saw that it held a sheltered bay. A part of the shore here was cleared, and she could discern a path leading up from the water.

Suddenly the yacht's engines stopped and the Wood Nymph drifted quietly into the bay under her own momentum. Julia was alone on the after deck as they came into an awesome stillness she had never before experienced. She had heard of "quiet"—she had believed she'd had moments of it in town. But now she knew that this was quiet—quiet as God had meant it.

At the sound of a human voice at her side, Julia started. It was Cintra Lee. She spoke softly, as though she, too, were awed.

"Beautiful, isn't it?" she said. "I sort of feel awkward and gawky just looking at it."

There was the sudden pound of the engines again as they were thrown into reverse to hold the Wood Nymph in her path. Then they were shut off, and Julia and Cintra heard the sound of the anchor windlass paying out up forward.

Royal Nesbitt joined them. "Come on," he said. "The skipper's putting the tender down and we're going ashore."

• • •

SPEEDILY and efficiently, Captain Bakely set them ashore in the mahogany power boat which had been carried atop the Wood Nymph's main cabin. Julia sat in the stern seat with Woodford.

"Now," he said, "aren't you glad you came along?"

"It's wonderful," Julia said, evading his question.

"Wonderful?" exclaimed Nash, turning to her and Woodford. "It's more than that. And it's the greatest hunting grounds on earth. All sorts of game. Obviously these islands were strung together at one time, and probably connected with the mainland. The beauty of it is that no one gets up here except lucky Woodford and his lucky guests."

"Is the whole island yours?" asked Julia.

Woodford grinned happily. "The whole Island. This is my escape when I feel things in town are getting too rough for me!"

The party debarked from the little power boat and felt the solid beach beneath their feet. Mrs. Joseph sighed, bringing a cigarette from her jacket pocket. "Well," she said slowly, "it's nice to be on land again. But, personally, I'd rather find my seclusion in a penthouse apartment."

Woodford laughed. "You're not very considerate of your host, Evelyn. Just wait until you see the lodge."

Woodford himself led the way up the path, and they traveled only a few hundred yards before reaching a good-sized rustic cabin with a wide porch and big shuttered windows. Taking a key from his pocket, Woodford unlocked the heavy padlock and preceded them inside. In a moment he had unlocked the shutters and thrown them wide, plunging the room into sunlight.

Julia caught her breath. It was a beautiful room, its beamed ceiling lifted two stories high. At the far end was a great stone fireplace which would burn whole logs. Above her she saw a balcony behind whose rustic railing was a row of doors which she supposed were the bed rooms. The lodge was furnished in a rough but expensive fashion, and she could not help but wonder at the wealth and power of a man who had taken over an entire island for his own.

"The rooms upstairs are all alike," boomed Woodford jovially. "So help yourself! Obo will have dinner in another hour. Meanwhile the place is yours."

• • •

JULIA lagged behind until she saw some of the others climb the wooden staircase to the balcony. When Cintra Lee had gone into one of the rooms, Julia picked up her bag and started for the stair. But Woodford was instantly at her side, taking the bag from her hand.

"May I?" he smiled, and went with her toward the stair. "I said the rooms were all alike," he whispered. "And they are—as to furnishings. But the one at the end gets the delightful morning sun. And that's the one I want you to have."

With her bag in hand, he led the way down toward the end of the balcony and opened the door of the last room in the row.

"There'll be cocktails in just a few minutes," he told her, putting her bag inside the door. Smiling, he closed the door; and Julia stood there gazing at the wide waxed panels. She heard Woodford walk down the balcony a few steps and go into the room next door.

"I may be all wrong about him," she told herself. "And I don't want to be a wet blanket. But—"

The "but" was unanswerable. She could only prepare to meet them all in the room below, and pretend to be one of them. At that moment she would have welcomed Amy Sanders' concise and cynical comment. Sighing, she took the white satin from her bag and began to get ready for dinner.

When she reappeared on the balcony half an hour later she saw too late that Cintra Lee and the widow had not dressed for dinner. They wore smart outdoors outfits that seemed to fit perfectly into the surroundings. Julia reddened. Not prepared for more than a week-end trip on the yacht, she had brought with her only the white gown, and a sports outfit suitable for the deck of the Wood Nymph. When she looked down into the big living room and saw the two women she was about to return to her room and change again to the sports clothes. But Mrs. Joseph, cocktail in hand, espied her on the balcony.

"Ah," she said, raising her glass dramatically toward the stair, "the lady enters!"

• • •

HER cruelty fell far short of its mark. Julia's heart warmed as she saw Cintra give the widow a dagger-like glance of disapproval. And the admiration in the eyes of Woodford and Nash and Nesbitt was unmistakable. Mere men, they cared little for the amenities of female dress. They saw only that a woman who had youth and beauty, ravishing in a white satin gown that revealed lovely curves, was descending the stair.

Woodford came forward quickly and handed her a cocktail. She thanked him, and walked on toward the fireplace where a huge log was burning brightly. They were all several cocktails ahead of her, and Julia felt that dinner was far from their minds at the moment. She herself was hungry, and she wondered if there might be a chance to slip away into the kitchen to snatch some food from Obo.

But at that moment Obo entered—not with dinner, but with another tray of cocktails. Julia's heart sank.

Setting down her almost untouched drink, Julia left the fireplace bench and moved toward the door. As the rest of the party gathered around Obo's laden tray, it was no trick for Julia to make her exit into the moonlight which bathed the wide verandah.

Her mind occupied with conflicting thoughts, she followed the path, believing that eventually it would lead her to the water's edge. But somehow she must have taken a path other than the one they had traversed that evening, for instead of reaching the water she soon found herself among tall trees whose boughs effectively shut out the moonlight.

She stopped uncertainly in the dark path. And then, quite close, a man's voice said, "If you're a ghost . . . you're a very beautiful one!"

Security Pact Full of Danger, Italy Says

Rome—(AP)—Italy warned the sanctionist nations of the world today that Great Britain's action in arranging a Mediterranean security pact constituted a "danger for European peace."

A memorandum prepared for Geneva distribution to the sanctionist powers protested that Great Britain had acted outside the league covenant in initiating the Mediterranean discussions.

The move, Italy contended, was made in the face of Italian assurances that she had no desire to drag a "colonial conflict" into a European war.

Italy had served warning at Geneva, two days ago, that she would protest the mutual assistance pact between Great Britain, France, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Disclosure of the 5-power agreement to pool military, naval and air forces against any Italian attack was made officially through the league in the form of a British memorandum published Wednesday.

Yugoslavia's adherence received the approval of the other two members of the little entente—Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

House Overrides Roosevelt's Veto Of Bonus Measure

Washington — (AP) — A heavily Democratic house voted 324 to 61 today to override President Roosevelt's veto of the $2,491,000,000 bonus bill.

Only a two-thirds majority was needed.

From the cheering representatives, who refused to delay the ballot even a day, the bill goes to the senate where a vote is not possible until Monday.

There too, leaders forecast the bill will be made law over President Roosevelt's opposition. Senator Clark (D., Mo.), an author of the measure, predicted not more than 20 votes would be cast to sustain the veto as against the 33 needed.

It was the second time in a year the house had tossed aside a presidential bonus veto. The vote to sustain the veto today was only two greater than that cast against the bill's original passage.

Members barely waited to hear the reading of the brief, hand-written veto message before demands of "vote, vote" were shouted on the floor.

Democratic leaders sought to delay the ballot until Monday but were voted down, 189 to 131.

Senator Harrison (D., Miss.), chairman of the finance committee and an administration stalwart, said:

"It is my opinion that the veto will not be sustained. I shall vote to override the veto."

"My convictions are as impelling today as they were then," he stated. "Therefore I cannot change them."

The message, unusually short for such important legislation, follows:

"To the House of Representatives:

"Return herewith, without my approval, H. R. bill 9870 entitled 'An act to provide for the immediate payment of World war adjusted service certificates, for the cancellation of unpaid interest accrued on loans secured by such certificates, and for other purposes.'

"On May 22, 1935, in disapproving a bill to pay the bonus in full immediately instead of in 1945, I gave in person to a joint session of the congress complete and explicit reasons for my action.

"The bill I now return differs from last year's bill in only two important respects: First, it eliminates the issuance of unsecured paper currency to make the payments required and substitutes interest bearing bonds, which, however, may be converted into cash for face value at any time; second, it adds $263,000,000 to the total payments by forgiving interest after October 1, 1931, on amounts borrowed.

"In all other respects, the circumstances, arguments and facts remain essentially the same as those fully covered and explained by me only eight months ago.

"I respectfully refer the members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives to every word of what I said then.

"My convictions are as impelling today as they were then. Therefore I cannot change them."

Henry Rubel of Alexander was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

Pay Last Respects to George

Million Persons Expected to File Past Bier in Famous Westminster Hall; Queen to Retain Title.

PILGRIMAGE BEGINS

(Copyright, 1936, the A.P.)

London—The first of 1,000,000 sorrowing Pilgrims filed today past the bier of the late King George V—a black catafalque, approached on purple-carpeted steps, in the ancient palace of Westminster.

There, the new King Edward VIII and the bereaved Royal family left their liege for four days of public homage before the final services and burial Tuesday at Windsor.

As Big Ben boomed 8 a. m. the nation's pilgrimage began. When the famous clock strikes 10 p. m. Monday, authorities said, at least 1,000,000 of the dead sovereign's subjects—men, women and children alike—will have joined in this last act of tribute.

A queue more than a mile long swelled outside the hall by noon today as the first of the ranks, four abreast, marched into the great hall, and past the coffin.

Seven women, among the first to enter, collapsed and were treated at a nearby hospital after passing through the chamber.

Long before last midnight, crowds gathered in the streets about the medieval Westminster Hall, sacrificing their sleep and braving a misty rain to be among the first to pay tribute to their late king.

The flag-draped catafalque, bearing the royal coffin, formed an island of light amid the shadowy spaces of the ancient hall which the late king once called "the heart of our Almighty Empire."

He spoke those words last May 9 when he received the congratulations of parliament on his silver jubilee—the last time he was at this spot.

At each of the four corners of the catafalque stood a lifeguard, his head bowed. A little deeper in the gloom stood four yeomen.

Many countryfolk, bewildered by the whirling traffic of metropolitan London, joined the throng.

"I wanted to make certain of seeing my king once more," said one old man who had traveled all night.

The catafalque, or temporary stage, on which the royal coffin rested was of black and gold, with a purple base. On each of the four corners stood a single tall candle.

The royal standard was draped over the coffin. At one end rested the neweled imperial crown and over the head were the crosses of flowers from King Edward and Queen Mary.

It was this scene which the Royal family left after the body was brought here yesterday from the Sandringham country estate where King George died Monday night.

King Edward, his face flushed, prayed silently for a few moments late yesterday at the close of a brief service.

Businesses were not asked to close for the day of the funeral, but two minutes of silence will be observed throughout the empire during the final service at Windsor, just west of London.

Although the monarch's widow was divested of her throne and title at the moment of his death, a court circular, describing yesterday's ceremonies, still referred to her as "the queen."

This was accepted in some quarters as an indication that she would not be known as the queen mother.

DESERTS WIFE QUICKLY

Chicago—(AP)—It was only 36 hours after their marriage, testified divorce seeking Mrs. Isetta Thompson, that her husband left her, saying he intended to look for a job. That was in 1926 at Hammond, Ind. Ten years later she still didn't know if he found one, she said, because she never saw him again.

Gilbert McQueen of New Berlin was a business visitor in the city yesterday afternoon.

Sportsmen to Talk Wild Life at Meet

Conservation to Be Theme at Decatur Meeting

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—Sportsmen and conservationists of Illinois will gather tomorrow night for a meeting to organize those who would preserve and increase the game, fish, fowl and natural resources of the state.

The meeting will bring together members of sports clubs, civic organizations, farm groups and others interested or concerned in hunting and fishing for selection of delegates to the American Wildlife Institute meeting in Washington, Feb. 3.

L. A. Colby, Chicago, who will act as chairman of the meeting, has been selected by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the institute's program, to organize Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin sportsmen prior to the Washington meeting. Colby is president-elect of the Chicago Izaak Walton League Chapter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEACHER DIES

Chicago.—(AP)—Miss Willietta McCracken, 80, a pioneer teacher of Christian Science in the midwest, died last night in her apartment in the Lake Shore Athletic club after suffering a stroke Sunday. Associated with the Seventeenth Church of Christ, Scientist, in Chicago, she also maintained a downtown office.

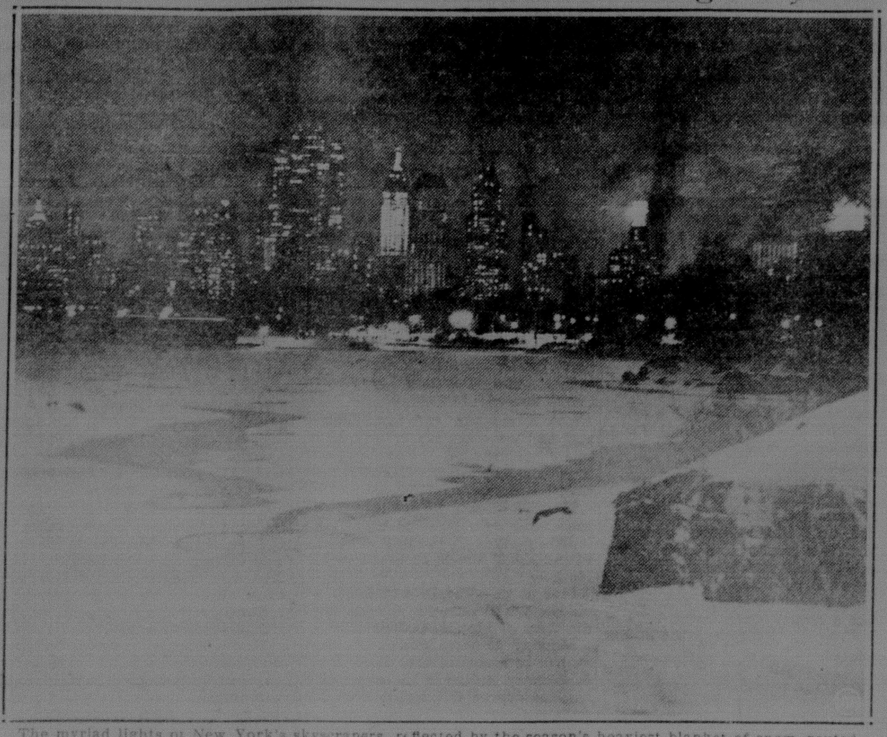

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, is requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

Record Snow Turns New York Into Gleaming Fairyland

The myriad lights of New York's skyscrapers, reflected by the season's heaviest blanket of snow, routed the night shadows in Central Park with the brilliance of a dozen moons. This was the glittering spectacle spread before the eyes of New Yorkers who looked south toward the business district across the frozen 72nd street lake.

Truck Regulation is Expected to Produce Fight in Assembly

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—A battle over truck regulation today was in prospect for next week as the old controversial issue was revived by an eleventh hour proposal to require all operators to secure a state permit by fulfilling stringent regulations.

The measure was introduced in the house by F. W. Lewis, Robinson Democrat. It was advanced to third reading, the passage stage, without debate as the members worked on other matters, but at this point it met serious opposition.

Permits would be divided into two classes. One group would be "for hire" trucks. All other trucks operated in the state, including those of farmers, would be in the second class. Because farm hauling vehicles would be included, the bill met disapproval from the agricultural bloc as well as members who have opposed truck regulation measures on all occasions.

To secure a "not for hire" permit, a truck owner would be required to submit a certificate of safety; proof of financial responsibility or an indemnity bond or insurance policy; and a sworn statement that no compensation for transportation of property with the truck was received directly or indirectly.

Exceptions to the compensation requirements would be allowed on "not for hire" permits when the indirect compensation was an exchange of labor and equipment used in the production or transportation of farm products or where farm products or supplies used in the production of crops was transported by the producer.

No charge would be made for a permit issued on a truck qualifying under these provisions.

A truck operated for compensation would be required to pay a $5 fee for a permit and submit a certificate of safety and proof of financial responsibility, an indemnity bond or an insurance policy.

Permits for each class would have to be renewed annually.

Safety certificates would be issued only by official testing stations after a thorough examination of the truck.

Official testing stations would be designated by the secretary of state. A truck failing to pass the test would have to undergo another examination within ten days.

No truck, owned within or without the state, could operate on state highways without fulfilling these conditions. All truck operators would be limited to 12 hours labor out of 24.

Violations of any state truck regulation for which another penalty is not provided would be subject to fines of $100, $200 or $300, for the first, second or third offense. Lewis contended this provision would return jurisdiction over misdemeanors to courts of police magistrates and justices of the peace.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD of the law firm of Woodford and Brooks, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, also employed by Woodford and Brooks, is in love with Julia, but she discourages his attentions. He gives Julia a letter of introduction to HENRI LAMB, band leader, but, in the letter, asks Lamb not to give her a job. Julia discovers this and tells Peter everything is over between them.

Woodford tells Julia he is giving a party on his yacht and asks her to come along to sing for his guests. She agrees. Others on the yacht include CINTRA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH, and ROYAL NESBITT.

Julia discovers the others think she is on the yacht as Woodford's guest and also that the trip is to be for more than a week-end. When she complains to him about this he laughs her objections aside.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THE Wood Nymph reached Evergreen Island early the following afternoon, and despite Julia's feelings against Woodford and his plans, she was forced to admit that he had chosen a beautiful spot for the yacht's destination.

As nearly as she could make out, Evergreen was the largest of a veritable string of small islands tufted with foliage clear from the water's edge. But as Captain Bakely carefully navigated in and out of the slender inlets and brought the boat to the far side of Evergreen Island, Julia saw that it held a sheltered bay. A part of the shore here was cleared, and she could discern a path leading up from the water.

Suddenly the yacht's engines stopped and the Wood Nymph drifted quietly into the bay under her own momentum. Julia was alone on the after deck as they came into an awesome stillness she had never before experienced. She had heard of "quiet"—she had believed she'd had moments of it in town. But now she knew that this was quiet—quiet as God had meant it.

At the sound of a human voice at her side, Julia started. It was Cintra Lee. She spoke softly, as though she, too, were awed.

"Beautiful, isn't it?" she said. "I sort of feel awkward and gawky just looking at it."

There was the sudden pound of the engines again as they were thrown into reverse to hold the Wood Nymph in her path. Then they were shut off, and Julia and Cintra heard the sound of the anchor windlass paying out up forward.

Royal Nesbitt joined them. "Come on," he said. "The skipper's putting the tender down and we're going ashore."

* * *

SPEEDILY and efficiently, Captain Bakely set them ashore in the mahogany power boat which had been carried atop the Wood Nymph's main cabin. Julia sat in the stern seat with Woodford.

"Now," he said, "aren't you glad you came along?"

"It's wonderful," Julia said, evading his question.

"Wonderful?" exclaimed Nash, turning to her and Woodford. "It's more than that. And it's the greatest hunting grounds on earth. All sorts of game. Obviously these islands were strung together at one time, and probably connected with the mainland. The beauty of it is that no one gets up here except lucky Woodford and his lucky guests."

"Is the whole island yours?" asked Julia.

Woodford grinned happily. "The whole island. This is my escape when I feel things in town are getting too rough for me!"

The party debarked from the little power boat and felt the solid beach beneath their feet. Mrs. Joseph sighed, bringing a cigarette from her jacket pocket. "Well," she said slowly, "it's nice to be on land again. But, personally, I'd rather find my seclusion in a penthouse apartment."

Woodford laughed. "You're not very considerate of your host, Evelyn. Just wait until you see the lodge."

Woodford himself led the way up the path, and they traveled only a few hundred yards before reaching a good-sized rustic cabin with a wide porch and big shuttered windows. Taking a key from his pocket, Woodford unlocked the heavy padlock and preceded them inside. In a moment he had unlocked the shutters and thrown them wide, plunging the room into sunlight.

Julia caught her breath. It was a beautiful room, its beamed ceiling lifted two stories high. At the far end was a great stone fireplace which would burn whole logs. Above her she saw a balcony behind whose rustic railing was a row of doors which she supposed were the bed rooms. The lodge was furnished in a rough but expensive fashion, and she could not help but wonder at the wealth and power of a man who had taken over an entire island for his own.

"The rooms upstairs are all alike," boomed Woodford jovially. "So help yourself! Obo will have dinner in another hour. Meanwhile the place is yours."

* * *

JULIA lagged behind until she saw some of the others climb the wooden staircase to the balcony. When Cintra Lee had gone into one of the rooms, Julia picked up her bag and started for the stair. But Woodford was instantly at her side, taking the bag from her hand.

"May I?" he smiled, and went with her toward the stair. "I said the rooms were all alike," he whispered. "And they are—as to furnishings. But the one at the end gets the delightful morning sun. And that's the one I want you to have."

With her bag in hand, he led the way down toward the end of the balcony and opened the door of the last room in the row.

"There'll be cocktails in just a few minutes," he told her, putting her bag inside the door. Smiling, he closed the door; and Julia stood there gazing at the wide waxed panels. She heard Woodford walk down the balcony a few steps and go into the room next door.

"I may be all wrong about him," she told herself. "And I don't want to be a wet blanket. But—"

The "but" was unanswerable. She could only prepare to meet them all in the room below, and pretend to be one of them. At that moment she would have welcomed Amy Sanders' concise and cynical comment. Sighing, she took the white satin from her bag and began to get ready for dinner.

When she reappeared on the balcony half an hour later she saw too late that Cintra Lee and the widow had not dressed for dinner. They wore smart outdoors outfits that seemed to fit perfectly into the surroundings. Julia reddened. Not prepared for more than a week-end trip on the yacht, she had brought with her only the white gown, and a sports outfit suitable for the deck of the Wood Nymph. When she looked down into the big living room and saw the two women she was about to return to her room and change again to the sports clothes. But Mrs. Joseph, cocktail in hand, espied her on the balcony.

"Ah," she said, raising her glass dramatically toward the stair, "the lady enters!"

* * *

HER cruelty fell far short of its mark. Julia's heart warmed as she saw Cintra give the widow a dagger-like glance of disapproval. And the admiration in the eyes of Woodford and Nash and Nesbitt was unmistakable. Mere men, they cared little for the amenities of female dress. They saw only that a woman who had youth and beauty, ravishing in a white satin gown that revealed lovely curves, was descending the stair.

Woodford came forward quickly and handed her a cocktail. She thanked him, and walked on toward the fireplace where a huge log was burning brightly. They were all several cocktails ahead of her, and Julia felt that dinner was far from their minds at the moment. She herself was hungry, and she wondered if there might be a chance to slip away into the kitchen to snatch some food from Obo.

But at that moment Obo entered—not with dinner, but with another tray of cocktails. Julia's heart sank.

Setting down her almost untouched drink, Julia left the fireplace bench and moved toward the door. As the rest of the party gathered around Obo's laden tray, it was no trick for Julia to make her exit into the moonlight which bathed the wide verandah.

Her mind occupied with conflicting thoughts, she followed the path, believing that eventually it would lead her to the water's edge. But somehow she must have taken a path other than the one they had traversed that evening, for instead of reaching the water she soon found herself among tall trees whose boughs effectively shut out the moonlight.

She stopped uncertainly in the dark path. And then, quite close, a man's voice said, "If you're a ghost . . . you're a very beautiful one!"

Security Pact Full of Danger, Italy Says

Rome—(AP)—Italy warned the sanctionist nations of the world today that Great Britain's action in arranging a Mediterranean security pact constituted a "danger for European peace."

A memorandum prepared for Geneva distribution to the sanctionist powers protested that Great Britain had acted outside the league covenant in initiating the Mediterranean discussions.

The move, Italy contended, was made in the face of Italian assurances that she had no desire to drag a "colonial conflict" into a European war.

Italy had served warning at Geneva, two days ago, that she would protest the mutual assistance pact between Great Britain, France, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Disclosure of the 5-power agreement to pool military, naval and air forces against any Italian attack was made officially through the league in the form of a British memorandum published Wednesday.

Yugoslavia's adherence received the approval of the other two members of the little entente—Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

House Overrides Roosevelt's Veto Of Bonus Measure

Washington — (AP) — A heavily Democratic house voted 324 to 61 today to override President Roosevelt's veto of the $2,491,000,000 bonus bill.

Only a two-thirds majority was needed.

From the cheering representatives, who refused to delay the ballot even a day, the bill goes to the senate where a vote is not possible until Monday.

There too, leaders forecast the bill will be made law over President Roosevelt's opposition. Senator Clark (D., Mo.), an author of the measure, predicted not more than 20 votes would be cast to sustain the veto as against the 33 needed.

It was the second time in a year the house had tossed aside a presidential bonus veto. The vote to sustain the veto today was only two greater than that cast against the bill's original passage.

Members barely waited to hear the reading of the brief, hand-written veto message before demands of "vote, vote" were shouted on the floor.

Democratic leaders sought to delay the ballot until Monday but were voted down, 189 to 131.

Senator Harrison (D., Miss.), chairman of the finance committee and an administration stalwart, said:

"It is my opinion that the veto will not be sustained. I shall vote to override the veto."

"My convictions are as impelling today as they were then," he stated. "Therefore I cannot change them."

The message, unusually short for such important legislation, follows:

"To the House of Representatives:

"Return herewith, without my approval, H. R. bill 9870 entitled 'An act to provide for the immediate payment of World war adjusted service certificates, for the cancellation of unpaid interest accrued on loans secured by such certificates, and for other purposes.'

"On May 22, 1935, in disapproving a bill to pay the bonus in full immediately instead of in 1945, I gave in person to a joint session of the congress complete and explicit reasons for my action.

"The bill I now return differs from last year's bill in only two important respects: First, it eliminates the issuance of unsecured paper currency to make the payments required and substitutes interest bearing bonds, which, however, may be converted into cash for face value at any time; second, it adds $263,000,000 to the total payments by forgiving interest after October 1, 1931, on amounts borrowed.

"In all other respects, the circumstances, arguments and facts remain essentially the same as those fully covered and explained by me only eight months ago.

"I respectfully refer the members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives to every word of what I said then.

"My convictions are as impelling today as they were then. Therefore I cannot change them."

Henry Rubel of Alexander was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

Pay Last Respects to George

Million Persons Expected to File Past Bier in Famous Westminster Hall; Queen to Retain Title.

PILGRIMAGE BEGINS

(Copyright, 1936, the A.P.)

London—The first of 1,000,000 sorrowing Pilgrims filed today past the bier of the late King George V—a black catafalque, approached on purple-carpeted steps, in the ancient palace of Westminster.

There, the new King Edward VIII and the bereaved Royal family left their liege for four days of public homage before the final services and burial Tuesday at Windsor.

As Big Ben boomed 8 a. m. the nation's pilgrimage began. When the famous clock strikes 10 p. m. Monday, authorities said, at least 1,000,000 of the dead sovereign's subjects—men, women and children alike—will have joined in this last act of tribute.

A queue more than a mile long swelled outside the hall by noon today as the first of the ranks, four abreast, marched into the great hall, and past the coffin.

Seven women, among the first to enter, collapsed and were treated at a nearby hospital after passing through the chamber.

Long before last midnight, crowds gathered in the streets about the medieval Westminster Hall, sacrificing their sleep and braving a misty rain to be among the first to pay tribute to their late king.

The flag-draped catafalque, bearing the royal coffin, formed an island of light amid the shadowy spaces of the ancient hall which the late king once called "the heart of our Almighty Empire."

He spoke those words last May 9 when he received the congratulations of parliament on his silver jubilee—the last time he was at this spot.

At each of the four corners of the catafalque stood a lifeguard, his head bowed. A little deeper in the gloom stood four yeomen.

One of the yeomen of the guard, exhausted by the ordeal, collapsed and was carried from the hall. Without a word, another took his place.

Many countryfolk, bewildered by the whirling traffic of metropolitan London, joined the throng.

"I wanted to make certain of seeing my king once more," said one old man who had traveled all night.

The catafalque, or temporary stage, on which the royal coffin rested was of black and gold, with a purple base. On each of the four corners stood a single, tall candle.

The royal standard was draped over the coffin. At one end rested the neweled imperial crown and over the head were the crosses of flowers from King Edward and Queen Mary.

It was this scene which the Royal family left after the body was brought here yesterday from the Sandringham country estate where King George died Monday night.

King Edward, his face flushed, prayed silently for a few moments late yesterday at the close of a brief service.

Businesses were not asked to close for the day of the funeral, but two minutes of silence will be observed throughout the empire during the final service at Windsor, just west of London.

Although the monarch's widow was divested of her throne and title at the moment of his death, a court circular, describing yesterday's ceremonies, still referred to her as "the queen."

This was accepted in some quarters as an indication that she would not be known as the queen mother.

DESERTS WIFE QUICKLY

Chicago—(AP)—It was only 36 hours after their marriage, testified divorce seeking Mrs. Izetta Thompson, that her husband left her, saying he intended to look for a job. That was in 1926 at Hammond, Ind. Ten years later she still didn't know if he found one, she said, because she never saw him again.

Gilbert McQueen of New Berlin was a business visitor in the city yesterday afternoon.

Historical Society Hears Addresses At Annual Meet

Scott County's Separation From Morgan Discussed; Officers Named

Three addresses of unusal interest and historical importance were presented before a large audience at the annual meeting of the Morgan County Historical society held Friday evening at the Peacock Inn. Following the dinner served at 6:15 o'clock in the Blue Room. Dr. Carl E. Black presided during the program and at the business session.

"Why Scott County Was Separated From Morgan" was the subject of an instructive paper presented by Fritz Haskell of Winchester, who was introduced to the audience by Frank Hieni as an authority upon the topic, which had created much comment many years ago. Mr. Haskell in reviewing the facts concerning this event cleverly brought out many points not formerly emphasized. He said, "We have always sort of looked up to Morgan county, at least as a parent and did it kindly; indeed, delighted in boasting of prominent ancestors. But going back we have in Illinois, many more counties. There must have been a time when the slicing performance was quite common; and in the light of our array of discord in making a division there must have been an endless amount of disputes and bitter enmity engendered in the creation of all of these subdivisions.

"But to forget the rest of the state and its long struggle in the final creation of 102 counties, we find that St. Clair county was our original ancestor, and had been created when Illinois was yet a territory in the year 1790; and in 1812 the county of Madison was set off from St. Clair, and it included the whole of this surrounding country, and thus Illinois was admitted to the union of the state in 1818, having at that time but 15 counties.

"The separation of Scott from Morgan was accomplished by the state legislature on February 16, 1839, 97 years ago. Now it so happened that this General Assembly convened at Vandalia in 1830, this for the last time, and its next session, in 1840, was held in Springfield, the new capital.

"Lincoln was there from Sangamon county, but our own 'Little Giant' had completed his legislative career the year before. There was a contest on three points which wanted the county seat, Manchester, Winchester and North Prairie. Winchester was at least a town and could offer additional inducements, such as furnishing the court house and jail. A smaller unit was desired and annual trips had to be made to the county seat, court to attend. The only question was where the division line should be."

Mr. Haskell wove into his narrative many personal observations which added to the account, giving the history of the period vividly, showing that it was a worthy purpose to recall again the hardships endured and the desperate struggles experienced by those pioneers of the past century, who happened to be immediate ancestors.

Dr. Norbury Speaks

Dr. Frank Norbury was presented by W. D. Wood as the next speaker, upon the topic, "Prevailing Climate Conditions." Dr. Norbury clearly told of the historical value of the fortieth parallel, the most historical in the United States, from New Jersey to California, within a radius of 300 miles. The speaker stressed the point that climatic conditions had a material affect upon industry, health and general prosperity. Illinois is favored with resultant prosperity. There are three sections of weather bureau service. We are in the middle section with Springfield as the director. Dr. Norbury explained that climate is constant but that weather is changeable from day to day. Changes in climate are just incidental.

With many scientific illustrations Dr. Norbury impressed the audience with the connection of the development of civilization with climatic conditions. "The Warrior Parson" an account of Dr. J. M. Jaquess, first prresident of MacMurray College given by Professor George Adams, introduced by Dr. R. O. Stoops, was most informing and filled with outstanding facts concerning a notable citizen of Jacksonville about whom very little had been recorded here.

In speaking of this distinguished m[illegible] Mr. Adams called to mind that t[illegible] Dr. Jaquess should be added to the Hall of Fame among the list of Jacksonville's notables. "Jacquess led a colorful life; he was a law student, preacher, soldier, business man, diplomat, politican, social worker and finally a venerable old—man by—the fire who enjoyed telling his reminiscences to an eager, and at times startled posterity. It seemed that his fate threw him often with the great and in a few cases he influenced the careers of the eminent men he knew.

"As a Colonel in the Civil war he spent a long time making speeches in the interest of Mr. Lincoln. The Colonel was offered promotion by the president but refused it on the ground that he owed it to the men of his regiment to stay with them. He later was appointed to the Freedmen's Bureau."

Dr. Jaquess entered his duties as president of the Academy in 1848, continuing until June, 1854 with marked acceptability and success. There was a large attendance of pupils which exceeded three hundred annually.

During the business session, the following officers were re-elected: President, Dr. Carl E. Black; vice-president, W. D. Wood; Secretary, Miss Fidelia Abbott; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Wm. English. Dr. Carl E. Black, Mrs. Henry Wm. English and Miss Fidelia Abbott were elected directors for three years to succeed themselves.

Mrs. O. N. Foreman, state chairman of the personnel campaign of the League of Women Voters gave a brief talk on the merit system.

Centenary Church Members Enjoy Unique Supper

Table Decorations, Programs Represent Months Of Year

A large crowd of friends and members of Centenary church enjoyed a unique supper at the church recently. The twelve tables were decorated to represent the months of the year.

January table was decorated with snow, ice, and cupid "1936" and green candles. Mrs. T. H. Buckthorp and Mrs. Geo. Fuhr had charge of the table. February table was decorated with a cherry tree, hatchets, etc., for Washington's birthday by Miss Zoe Tyrrell and Mrs. Anna Baldwin. March table carried out the St. Patrick Day idea with shamrocks and green candles, etc. Mrs. Lewis Kelley and Miss Bourn were in charge.

April table was decorated in keeping with Easter with baskets of Easter eggs and chickens. Mrs. Fenstemaker and Mrs. F. Ledford were in charge. May table was decorated with a Maypole, ribbons leading to each plate, by Miss Gertrude Atkins.

June table was decorated with a miniature bride and groom amid a bowl of pink sweet peas. Mrs. Mae Stice and Mrs. Edith Davies were in charge. July table was decorated with a large fire cracker and flags. Miss Minnie Wyatt and Mrs. McKendree Blair were in charge. August table presented a diving girl posed on the end of a spring board at the edge of a small pool. Wesleyanna Guild was in charge.

September table presented a school house with landscaped playground and miniature school teacher and pupils. Mrs. Wm. Wilkinson and Miss Mittie Godfrey were in charge.

October table was decorated for Hallowe'en with orange and black colors, bowl of golden fruit, candles and black streamers. Mrs. Thomas Harber and Mrs. Robert Hembrough were in charge.

November was the Thanksgiving table with bowl of fruits and turkeys at each place. Miss Emma Hunter and Mrs. Thos. Chumley were in charge. December table was decorated with tree and Christmas decorations by Mrs. Homer Rowland.

The table hostesses or women in charge of each table planned and prepared the salad and dessert course in keeping with the month and color schemes. Elaborate and colorful were the results.

At the close of the meal a brief, informal program was presented by the various tables. Mrs. C. P. Siegfried turned the pages of a large picturesque calendar hung at the front of the dining room. On a table in front of the calendar stood twelve candles of various colors. These were lighted by Ruth Jean Siegfried. Mrs. Ida Flenner read original verses for each month as the calendar was turned. Each table in turn responded.

Miss Mary Clampit read a New Year's Message for January. Guests at the February table read George Washington's rules of conduct written on their place cards. Miss Charlotte Seiber sang an Irish song for the March table. Mrs. McKendree Blair sang "Flower Rain" for April.

Miss Gertrude Atkins introduced the "Spring Beauties" sitting at the May table. Miss Iola Whitlock, student at MacMurray college sang "I Love You Truly" for June. All people in the dining room sang "America The Beautiful" for July.

Miss Ruth Siegfried read "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer for August. The guests at September table sang "School Days." Mrs. Rollyn Trotter read "Hallowe'en for October table. Fletcher Hopper read a Thanksgiving poem for November table. The program closed by all singing "Silent Night, Holy Night," for December.

Jackson Bright Of Griggsville Is Suffocated

Aged Pike Resident Dies After Lamp Falls In Home

Griggsville, Ill., Jan. 24 — Jackson Bright, 81, well known Griggsville resident, died of suffocation about 9 o'clock tonight, when it is believed he suffered a stroke, fell against a table and upset a lamp which set the house on fire. He was dead when neighbors pulled the body from the burning room. His hands were burned.

Bright lived alone in his home in the eastern part of Griggsville.

Mrs. Edward Moody, a neighbor noticed smoke coming from the Bright home. Upon investigation she found the house was on fire. Mrs. Moody summoned other neighbors and several men made their way thru the smoke filled room and rescued the body of the aged man.

The fire department was called and extinguished the blaze before it spread to other parts of the house. Only the room in which the body was found was damaged by the fire.

After the fire had been extinguished the firemen found a table overturned and a broken lamp on the floor.

Junior High School Students Receive Diplomas Friday

Seventy-Six Graduate From Class; Pageant Is Presented

A junior high class of 76 received diplomas from Superintendent of Schools R. O. Stoops yesterday afternoon at the graduation exercises held in the David Prince auditorium. The pupils presented "A Pageant of History," arranged and directed by Miss Mary Frances Scott of the faculty.

Bob Suter and Norma Daly were awarded the American Legion and Auxiliary honor medals, presented by the Rev. Fr. Frank Lawler and Mrs. R. W. Bland.

Father Lawler explained that the idea of a Legion award to outstanding school pupils originated in a Pennsylvania city in 1923, and was given official impetus in the national convention that followed in San Francisco. He stated that at the St. Louis convention held last summer, it was reported that 7,000 children had been distinguished by the medals which are now given annually all over the United States.

He pointed out that the boy must have the qualities of service, scholarship, leadership, honor and courage; and the girl, scholarship, service, character, companionship and courage. The award and its encouragement for better citizenship is a part of the American Legion's program of Americanism.

A cast of 52 characters pantomimed and acted the historical pageant with the first scene laid in mediaeval England and taken from an incident in the life of Robin Hood, notorious and loved outlaw of the period.

The remaining scenes depicted American life with the landing of the Pilgrims, the Indians' reaction to the coming of the white man, the dancing of the minuet, and a finale that utilized the World War setting to glorify the Liberty of America.

As a prelude to the exercises, Miss Ruby Newberry presented a piano solo by Shutt, "A la Bien Aimee." Rev. W. A. Richards was the presiding minister.

List of Graduates.

Mary Ator, Albert Beard, Roland Bersig, Sam Boston, David Breakville, Arthur Butcher, Louisa Carter, Charles Christison, Catherine Cockerill, Norma Daly, Ernest DeFreitas, Rose DeVorase, Keith Entrikin, Dorothy Fernandes, Frances Fisher, Glen Flynn, Paul Frank, Eugene French, Mary E. Historical Society Hears Addresses At Annual Meet

Scott County's Separation From Morgan Discussed; Officers Named

Three addresses of unusual interest and historical importance were presented before a large audience at the annual meeting of the Morgan County Historical society held Friday evening at the Peacock Inn. Following the dinner served at 6:15 o'clock in the Blue Room, Dr. Carl E. Black presided during the program and at the business session.

"Why Scott County Was Separated From Morgan" was the subject of an instructive paper presented by Fritz Haskell of Winchester, who was introduced to the audience by Frank Hienl as an authority upon the topic, which had created much comment many years ago. Mr. Haskell in reviewing the facts concerning this event cleverly brought out many points not formerly emphasized. He said, "We have always sort of looked up to Morgan county, at least as a parent and did it kindly; indeed, delighted in boasting of prominent ancestors. But going back we have in Illinois, many more counties. There must have been a time when the slicing performance was quite common; and in the light of our array of discord in making a division there must have been an endless amount of disputes and bitter enmity engendered in the creation of all of these subdivisions.

"But to forget the rest of the state and its long struggle in the final creation of 102 counties, we find that St. Clair county was our original ancestor, and had been created when Illinois was yet a territory in the year 1790; and in 1812 the county of Madison was set off from St. Clair, and it included the whole of this surrounding country, and thus Illinois was admitted to the union of the state in 1818, having at that time but 15 counties.

"The separation of Scott from Morgan was accomplished by the state legislature on February 16, 1839, 97 years ago. Now it so happened that this General Assembly convened at Vandalia in 1830, this for the last time, and its next session, in 1840, was held in Springfield, the new capital.

"Lincoln was there from Sangamon county, but our own 'Little Giant' had completed his legislative career the year before. There was a contest on three points which wanted the county seat, Manchester, Winchester and North Prairie. Winchester was at least a town and could offer additional inducements, such as furnishing the court house and jail. A smaller unit was desired and annual trips had to be made to the county seat, court to attend. The only question was where the division line should be."

Mr. Haskell wove into his narrative many personal observations which added to the account, giving the history of the period vividly, showing that it was a worthy purpose to recall again the hardships endured and the desperate struggles experienced by those pioneers of the past century, who happened to be immediate ancestors.

Dr. Norbury Speaks

Dr. Frank Norbury was presented by W. D. Wood as the next speaker, upon the topic, "Prevailing Climate Conditions." Dr. Norbury clearly told of the historical value of the fortieth parallel, the most historical in the United States, from New Jersey to California, within a radius of 300 miles. The speaker stressed the point that climatic conditions had a material affect upon industry, health and general prosperity. Illinois is favored with resultant prosperity. There are three sections of weather bureau service. We are in the middle section with Springfield as the director. Dr. Norbury explained that climate is constant but that weather is changeable from day to day. Changes in climate are just incidental.

With many scientific illustrations Dr. Norbury impressed the audience with the connection of the development of civilization with climatic conditions. "The Warrior Parson" an account of Dr. J. M. Jaquess, first prresident of MacMurray College given by Professor George Adams, introduced by Dr. R. O. Stoops, was most informing and filled with outstanding facts concerning a notable citizen of Jacksonville about whom very little had been recorded here.

In speaking of this distinguished m[illegible] Mr. Adams called to mind that t[illegible] Dr. Jaquess should be added to the Hall of Fame among the list of Jacksonville's notables. "Jacquess led a colorful life; he was a law student, preacher, soldier, business man, diplomat, politican, social worker and finally a venerable old—man by—the fire who enjoyed telling his reminiscences to an eager, and at times startled posterity. It seemed that his fate threw him often with the great and in a few cases he influenced the careers of the eminent men he knew.

"As a Colonel in the Civil war he spent a long time making speeches in the interest of Mr. Lincoln. The Colonel was offered promotion by the president but refused it on the ground that he owed it to the men of his regiment to stay with them. He later was appointed to the Freedmen's Bureau."

Dr. Jaquess entered his duties as president of the Academy in 1848, continuing until June, 1854 with marked acceptability and success. There was a large attendance of pupils which exceeded three hundred annually.

During the business session, the following officers were re-elected: President, Dr. Carl E. Black; vice-president, W. D. Wood; Secretary, Miss Fidelia Abbott; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Wm. English. Dr. Carl E. Black, Mrs. Henry Wm. English, and Miss Fidelia Abbott were elected directors for three years to succeed themselves.

September table presented a school house with landscaped playground and miniature school teacher and pupils. Mrs. Wm. Wilkinson and Miss Mittie Godfrey were in charge.

October table was decorated for Hallowe'en with orange and black colors, bowl of golden fruit, candles and black streamers. Mrs. Thomas Harber and Mrs. Robert Hembrough were in charge.

November was the Thanksgiving table with bowl of fruits and turkeys at each place. Miss Emma Hunter and Mrs. Thos. Chumley were in charge. December table was decorated with tree and Christmas decorations by Mrs. Homer Rowland.

The table hostesses or women in charge of each table planned and prepared the salad and dessert course in keeping with the month and color schemes. Elaborate and colorful were the results.

At the close of the meal a brief, informal program was presented by the various tables. Mrs. C. P. Siegfried turned the pages of a large picturesque calendar hung at the front of the dining room. On a table in front of the calendar stood twelve candles of various colors. These were lighted by Ruth Jean Siegfried. Mrs. Ida Flenner read original verses for each month as the calendar was turned. Each table in turn responded.

Miss Mary Clampit read a New Year's Message for January. Guests at the February table read George Washington's rules of conduct written on their place cards. Miss Charlotte Seiber sang an Irish song for the March table. Mrs. McKendree Blair sang "Flower Rain" for April.

Miss Gertrude Atkins introduced the "Spring Beauties" siting at the May table. Miss Iola Whitlock, student at MacMurray college sang "I Love You Truly" for June. All people in the dining room sang "America The Beautiful" for July.

Miss Ruth Siegfried read "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer for August. The guests at September table sang "School Days." Mrs. Rollyn Trotter read "Hallowe'en for October table. Fletcher Hopper read a Thanksgiving poem for November table. The program closed by all singing "Silent Night, Holy Night," for December.

Jackson Bright Of Griggsville Is Suffocated

Aged Pike Resident Dies After Lamp Falls In Home

Griggsville, Ill., Jan. 24 — Jackson Bright, 81, well known Griggsville resident, died of suffocation about 9 o'clock tonight, when it is believed he suffered a stroke, fell against a table and upset a lamp which set the house on fire. He was dead when neighbors pulled the body from the burning room. His hands were burned.

Bright lived alone in his home in the eastern part of Griggsville.

Mrs. Edward Moody, a neighbor noticed smoke coming from the Bright home. Upon investigation she found the house was on fire. Mrs. Moody summoned other neighbors and several men made their way thru the smoke filled room and rescued the body of the aged man.

The fire department was called and extinguished the blaze before it spread to other parts of the house. Only the room in which the body was found was damaged by the fire.

After the fire had been extinguished the firemen found a table overturned and a broken lamp on the floor.

Junior High School Students Receive Diplomas Friday

Seventy-Six Graduate From Class; Pageant Is Presented

A junior high class of 76 received diplomas from Superintendent of Schools R. O. Stoops yesterday afternoon at the graduation exercises held in the David Prince auditorium. The pupils presented "A Pageant of History," arranged and directed by Miss Mary Frances Scott of the faculty.

Bob Suter and Norma Daly were awarded the American Legion and Auxiliary honor medals, presented by the Rev. Fr. Frank Lawler and Mrs. R. W. Bland.

Father Lawler explained that the idea of a Legion award to outstanding school pupils originated in a Pennsylvania city in 1923, and was given official impetus in the national convention that followed in San Francisco. He stated that at the St. Louis convention held last summer, it was reported that 7,000 children had been distinguished by the medals which are now given annually all over the United States.

He pointed out that the boy must have the qualities of service, scholarship, leadership, honor and courage; and the girl, scholarship, service, character, companionship and courage. The award and its encouragement for better citizenship is a part of the American Legion's program of Americanism.

A cast of 52 characters pantomimed and acted the historical pageant with the first scene laid in mediaeval England and taken from an incident in the life of Robin Hood, notorious and loved outlaw of the period.

The remaining scenes depicted American life with the landing of the Pilgrims, the Indians' reaction to the coming of the white man, the dancing of the minuet, and a finale that utilized the World War setting to glorify the Liberty of America.

As a prelude to the exercises, Miss Ruby Newberry presented a piano solo by Shutt, "A la Bien Aimee." Rev. W. A. Richards was the presiding minister.

List of Graduates.

Mary Ator, Albert Beard, Roland Bersig, Sam Boston, David Breakville, Arthur Butcher, Louisa Carter, Charles Christison, Catherine Cockerill, Norma Daly, Ernest DeFreitas, Rose DeVorase, Keith Entrikin, Dorothy Fernandes, Frances Fisher, Glen Flynn, Paul Frank, Eugene French, Mary E. Gilbert, Mildred Gilpin, Helen Mae Goacher, Marie Harrell, Bill Hermann, Fern Holcomb, Nora Holliday, Doritha House, James House, Thomas Hubbard, Charles Jensen, Eunice Johnson, Frances Johnson, Bertha Kaplan, Geneva Kinnett, Robert Knowles, Delmore Lane, Evelyn Leahr, Dale Lindsay, Floyd Little, John Loomis, Grace McFarland, Connie Mather, Gilbert Miers, Angeline Moore, Frances Nall, Betty Nunes, Eugenia Nunes, Russell Pullum, Milton Ramey, Marjorie Redding, Alice Ricks, Bob Robinson, Nelson Sanders, Jean Schoenfeld, Helen Frances Shaw, Maxine Smith, Paul Smith, Junior Sorrell, Mildred Stacy, Maynard Standley, Eleanor Strowmatt, Bobby Suryk, Bob Suter, Henry Suter, Mildred Sweeney, Billy Swope, Raymond Thomas, Wilma Vaniter, Clyde Vasconcellos, Roy Wards, Charles White, Marjorie White, Joe Wilkerson, Geraldine Wilkinson, Joy Witwer, Louise Wolke, Allison Wood.
